

19th Amendment Constitutional STRIKE BREAKERS LEAVE LOWELL Mayor Further Reduces Estimates

STRIKE-BREAKERS ORDERED FROM PUTNAM AVENUE HOUSE

More Than 50 Strikers on Picket Duty at the Bay State Plant Today—Pickets Were Out Before Morning Whistle Blew—Disturbance in Middlesex Street—Big Meeting Held This Morning—Statement by President Hanley

Imported strike-breakers housed in a dwelling on Putnam avenue were ordered to find a boarding place elsewhere this morning, when 25 textile union pickets followed the out-of-town non-union weavers from their temporary domicile to the gates of the Bay State Cotton corporation and later informed the boarding house keeper who the men were.

More than 50 strikers were on picket duty this morning, and 150 are expected to be at the various employees' entrances to the Bay State's mills tonight when the whistle blows.

Considerable more organized work was done this morning in picketing the Bay State plant than has been done before. Arrangements were made at last night's meeting of the strikers at Trades and Labor headquarters, to have the pickets out before the mill gates half an hour before the morning whistle. Three strike-breakers turned back when they reached Marginal street at 6.45 o'clock, and informed the pickets that they were "out of it."

Employees of the yarn mill at the

Bay State said this morning that that department in the new building was going along smoothly, with three new men hired today. Several employees obtained in outside cities last week by the management, failed to report for work this morning. Union pickets declared they had left the city.

This noon, the pickets remained downtown at the union headquarters, and the Marginal street territory was guarded except for the presence of three policemen from headquarters, hired by the mill management. The trio of bluecoats are new ones, taking the places of those assigned for this special duty last week. None of the officers found any trouble. Some work this morning, although they had to order several patrols to "keep moving" when they remained too long at the entrance to the Bay State offices. There were no signs of any trouble.

Exhaust Clues in Taylor Murder

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 27.—Practically all other leads to a solution of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, film director, have failed, the police declared today, as they prepared to concentrate further efforts upon a search for Edward F. Sands, Taylor's missing former butler-secretary. It was planned to assemble new data on Sands, including even his mannerisms, it was said, and to compile a special bulletin for distribution to virtually every police officer in the United States. The police frankly state they believe Sands can supply a clue to Taylor's murderer.

MADE BIG RAID IN ROCKDALE AVENUE

Federal Officers Bowers, Lieut. Palmer and Officers Cossette, Dwyer and Noye conducted a successful raid at 1 Rockdale avenue shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, securing a still of extra large capacity, 10 gallons of "shine," 7 jugs, and 12 bottles. The officers say that it is the most up to date still yet captured, equipped with a double condenser and an enormous coil, with coloring and other accessories to make the home-made liquor look like the genuine, old-time article.

The occupant of the premises is alleged to be Fred J. Lescard, who, according to the officers, was to be arrested later in the day. It is said that his wife had sworn out a complaint against him for assault and battery, and the warrant was to be served immediately.

As a result of about 30 raids by the liquor squad on Saturday, two men paid fines of $150 each in district court this morning.

Antonio Maradgo, who was brought into court several days ago for illegal keeping and whose case was continued, appeared as the result of a raid on the premises in the rear of 32 South street, where, it is alleged, a large amount of illicit liquor was being sold. On a plea of guilty Judge Enright ordered a fine of $150. In this case it is reported that Sergt. Winn and Officers Cooney, Moore, Clark, Dwyer, Noye and Federal Officers Sheldon and Bowers saw a number of men enter the house and come out with bottles of "shine" concealed in lunch boxes. Upon entering the house openings were found in the walls and floors and the window sills turned out to be covered with bottles.

EIGHT CALLED BEFORE N. Y. GRAND JURY

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Eight witnesses were subpoenaed to go before the grand jury today and testify against Alfred A. Lindsay, former stock broker, charged by 11 men and women with having fleeced them out of more than $700,000 in bogus stock deals. No trace has yet been found of Lindsay, who has been missing from his pretense Nyack, N. Y., home for more than a month.

Among the witnesses to be called before the grand jury today were Mrs. Lillian M. Duke, former wife of James S. Duke, millionaire tobacco manufacturer; Mrs. Duke was one of the first women to bring the case of Lindsay to the attention of District Attorney Stanton. She claimed she entrusted more than $400,000 to Lindsay for investment and that the money had disappeared with the broker.

Miss Charlotte Nilsson, former actress, has also been subpoenaed. She has told the authorities that she gave Lindsay $20,000, most of her life's savings, for investment.

The district attorney's office declared that researches into Lindsay's past had revealed he had been twice arrested on "white slavery" charges.

Details concerning the accident could not be learned, for at the mill office it was stated that no official report had as yet been made. It is said, however, that the young man got caught between a pulley and a belt.

SUPREME COURT

BACKS WOMEN
Declares 19th Amendment or Woman's Suffrage to be Constitutional

Justice Brandeis Delivers
Opinion Which Brings
Long Fight to Close

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The woman's suffrage or 19th amendment was today declared constitutional by the supreme court. The opinion was delivered by Justice Brandeis.

The supreme court dismissed for want of jurisdiction the suit brought by Charles S. Davis, child of New York, who sought to challenge the constitutionality of the amendment. The women's suffrage or nineteenth amendment to the constitution was challenged in the supreme court in proceedings instituted by Charles S. Davis, child of New York, for himself and in behalf of the American Constitutional League, to join the secretary of state from issuing and the attorney general from enforcing a proclamation declaring the ratification of the amendment, and by Oscar Leser and other citizens of Maryland, constituting an organization known as the "Maryland League for State Defense." The former proceedings were based on the ground that the amendment had not been validly adopted, and the latter that the amendment was unconstitutional.

The federal court in the District of Columbia and the state courts in Maryland, where the cases, respectively, were originally brought, ruled against the objections to the amendment. In the Davis case, the government contended that the secretary of state having issued the ratified proclamation there was nothing to restrain, and that the case therefore became moot, not presenting a controversy for judicial decision. In the Leser case, the government acknowledged that the proceedings had been instituted by voters who had sufficient interest to warrant their presence in court, but that the issue raised was political, one for decision by congress or for settlement in some other avenue than by judicial decision. While the state of Maryland had refused to ratify the amendment, it was pointed out that state also refused to question its constitutionality.

FEBRUARY SNOWSTORM CAME UNHERALDED

A February snowstorm entirely unheralded and apparently the offspring of a mid-southern blizzard that lost its grip and went agley with visions of a lot of work to do in New England, clouded up the atmosphere early this morning and brought down flakes in a swirl of easterly breezes that threatened dire things for Lowell snow-fighters. A good deal of the snow, which came in flakes nearly as large as silver half-dollars at one time and spattered the landscape quickly with a new white coat, melted about as soon as it tumbled. This noon, when the storm turned into a rainy drizzle, the snow fast disappeared.

Colder weather is on the way tonight and tomorrow, with fair weather for several days to come. There have been rains in the south Atlantic states and in the Gulf states.

Snow plows were out this morning on all street car lines, but they were sent to the barns early.

MRS. ROGERS DIED TODAY

Mother of Congressman
Rogers Passed Away Early
This Morning

Mrs. Mary Howard Carney Rogers, widow of Jacob Rogers and mother of the Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Massachusetts congressman, died early today at the family home, 256 Andover street. Her illness has been lingering, but it was only a few days ago that the congressman was called home from Washington, when her condition seemed to take a serious turn. Her age was 82 years.

For years the name of Mrs. Jacob Rogers has been identified with practically every charitable cause instituted in this city and in many other communities. Her life has been devoted to service to others.

Mrs. Rogers was born in Lowell, the daughter of James G. Carney, on September 10, 1839. In 1863 she married Jacob Rogers, and from this union there were three children, who now survive her, Mrs. Frank E. Dunbar, Mrs. Frederick A. Flather, and John Jacob Rogers. She also is survived by three grandchildren, Mary Drusilla Flather, John Rogers Flather, and Frederick Flather, all of Lowell.

OVER MILLION DOLLARS IN UNPAID TAXES

On Saturday last, February 25, there remained on the city's books a balance of unpaid taxes, covering the years 1915, 1916, 1919, 1920 and 1921 of $1,102,046.77. This is a reduction from the figures of January 1, of $215,383.78.

Unpaid taxes by years, as of February 25, are as follows:

1916	8,657.81
1919	15,325.56
1920	282,115.57
1921	794,483.68

Total $1,102,046.77

Since January 1 none of the 1919 taxes has been paid, the amount received coming from the taxes of 1920 and 1921. The 1920 taxes still unpaid, totalling $282,115.57, represent a reduction of $255,534.20 from one year ago.

Street sprinkling assessments still unpaid as of January 1, total $11,523.05, of which $6.58 is for 1915; $3220.00 for 1920 and $8305.60 for 1921. Month assessments, outstanding amount to $1535.75, with $431.15 from 1920 and $1102.60 from 1921.

MAYOR'S BUDGET FIGURES READY FOR CITY COUNCIL

Budget in Total Is $29,300 Less Than Recommendations of Budget and Audit Commission—$47,000 Cut From Interest Charges and $10,600 From Fire and Police Wage Schedules—Street Department Figures Increased

In preparation of his 1922 budget for presentation to the city council on Thursday night of this week, Mayor George H. Brown has increased the total figures in the department of street maintenance $39,062.15 over the recommendations of the budget and audit commission, thus allowing that department the $15,000 asked for the purchase of new equipment and providing for the year-round employment of all permanent men in the department.

Reductions made elsewhere in the figures for other departments, however, are not so heavy. The school department appropriation stands as recommended by the budget commission, with a cut of more than $100,000 over the estimates presented.

The mayor has sliced interest charges by $47,072, although he said today that perhaps he had cut too deep.

The budget and audit commission recommended $275,000 for street maintenance, plus $10,000 for special work, or a total of $285,000. The figures of

Mayor Brown for this department are

$324,062.15. "This will allow for the purchase of needed equipment," said the mayor, "and will place the department on a permanent basis regarding its force of men. All men who have been in the department for more than three years will get daily work."

The mayor also has increased the sewer maintenance appropriation figures by $3000 and has allowed $1,000 for the purchase of new rifles for the high school regiments, feeling that the guns now being used are too heavy for the boys to shoulder. Aside from that one item, however, the school department appropriation stands as recommended by the budget commission, with a cut of more than $100,000 over the estimates presented.

Couple Dying in Miami, Fla., With Little Hope for Recovery

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—The lives of E. C. Frady, president of the Cole Motor Co. of Chicago, and his wife, are hanging by a thread today, according to surgeons at the hospital where they were taken yesterday, following Frady's attempt to kill his wife and then to end his own life. Mrs. Frady was shot three times by her husband, who then slashed his throat with a safety razor blade and a penknife.

No charges have been placed against Frady, but a deputy sheriff is stationed in the hospital and he is technically in custody pending the outcome of the wounds received by both.

The Fradys were stopping at the leading tourist hotel on the beach. Mrs. Frady arrived about six weeks ago and he a month later. Other guests at the hotel say that Frady seemed to be unusually jealous, having been heard to scold his wife for accepting introductions to men.

Frady is said to have suffered a nervous breakdown several weeks ago and to have come to Miami to recuperate. Mrs. Frady, a sister of John H. Thompson, wealthy Chicago restaurant owner, also came here for her health.

The company of which Frady is president, is a Chicago distributing agency.

Strike Situation Unchanged
With Committees Working on Proposals

Manufacturers Decide Against
Attempt to Reopen Today
Pending Conference

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 27.—With strike committees and manufacturers' associations considering acceptance or rejection of the state mediation board's proposal for settlement, the strike situation in the cotton mills of this state was without change today.

Word had come out a day or two ago that mill owners of the Pawtuxet valley intended reopening their plants today under the protection of the military force. As a result, thin picket lines appeared at several places. But the men and women strikers patrolled in a heavy snow storm which showed no change from the inactivity of the past month or more. Because of the understanding that both sides would make their position on the proposed arbitration clear by tomorrow, the mill managements were said to have decided not to force the issue by an attempt at reopening today.

Pawtuxet, which several plants operating in part, was as quiet as the Pawtuxet Valley mill towns to the south. Pickets appeared in the snow there also but outside the lines of the military forces.

The immediate proposal for settlement of the controversy in the Pawtuxet valley, which was made by the state mediation board, was taken up today by the strike committees of the Pawtuxet valley, in which a majority of the organized workers of the Pawtuxet valley towns are enrolled, and by officials of the United Textile Workers which controls the strike situation in Pawtuxet and the other Blackstone valley centers.

The manufacturers also, although without making known their plans, were understood to have called a meeting for this afternoon to take the proposal up formally. It was stipulated that the answers of all be made to the board by 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Strike Breakers Leave Lowell

morning reported a disturbance on Middlesex street in the vicinity of the corner where a boarding house is located. Three imported strike-breakers were rather roughly handled by an excited crowd, but there was no bloodshed.

The Meeting Today

This morning's meeting and roll call in Loom Fixers' hall was the largest of the present strike. Secretary John Hanley of the Loom Fixers, who is also president of the textile council, presided at the morning meeting, which lasted more than two hours. At noon, most of the members remained for a smoke talk, and another meeting was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock with speakers from numerous union organizations in Lowell.

Mr. Hanley, as secretary of the meeting, said in part:

"We are going to win a victory. Don't be alarmed by this little war. We are prepared for a long fight, but I don't think we are going to have one. The people of Lowell are with us. They don't propose to have citizens of this city treated as we have been treated."

"We are getting stronger every day. There is no indication that the Hamilton mills are to open right away, but when they do we shall be ready for them if they propose to keep to that big wage cut announced the other day."

"At the Hay State, reports show that little work is being done in the larger departments and the most important departments of the mill. Our pickets are doing fine work. More than 50 were at the Hay State mill gates this morning, and 150 will be on hand tonight."

Strike-breakers that "Imported strike-breakers are already leaving the Hay State company. We know who they are and where they are stopping. The job before us is not a hard one, and we are going along just as we expected. This is no time to take back-water from anybody, and we are not going to make any compromise on this wage question—remember that, men. We are going to have what belongs to us. It is a just contest on our part, and we are gaining friends every day. Keep up the good work, get out and hustle for the cause of all our members, and we will win without a day's delay."

The Day Report

Reports from the tag day committee indicate a collection of something over $1700, with turned out at the Saturday collections and the additional co-operation received from all Lowell citizens. More than 100 young ladies gave their services freely, and all kinds of work were done over to Mrs. Annie Heagan, financial secretary and treasurer of the Trades and Labor council. The money is to be deposited in a local bank and will be drawn upon until all cases of actual distress among mill workers and their families are carefully investigated. In rotation as they are reported. The tag day committee will report to the general strike committee and the latter will decide upon action and disbursement of all funds.

Several acute cases of distress are being known, and the leaders of the strike, and will be attended to first. Six women thrown out of employment by the closing of the Hamilton mills, called at textile headquarters this morning to confer with President Hanley of the textile council and President Dana, chief of the Slagter Textiles' local. There are 16 other tenders on strike at the Hamilton mills according to the president.

"I can tell you of suffering already because of the low wages our men have been receiving—$17 a week. In many cases, many of these men have families of five and six children and live in tenement houses that are not fit for human habitation," said President Hanley to a Sun man this morning. "I can show you terrible conditions that should not be allowed. Of course we are helping every one we can, but we can't attend to all the cases reported to us."

The King Splendid local held roll call this morning in the Park hotel at 9 o'clock, many members being present and responding. They were also addressed by President Hanley of the textile council. The Loom Fixers' local is now known as "100 per cent" in every respect, and the record of this organization is the goal for all other locals. The meetings are largely attended, no members deserting as yet for other places of employment and maintaining loyal to the local organization and the strike campaign, according to the officers of the local assembled in the Park hotel building this morning.

MANY TELEPHONE OPERATORS SICK

Sickness has made serious inroads upon the operating force at the local telephone exchange and at the present time approximately 30 per cent of the operators are out of work.

Manager Charles J. Leathers said today that conditions are a little better than they were, but that it still is quite a problem to handle the immense volume of business with a reduced force.

"If service seems to be slow," said Mr. Leathers, "it is because we are seriously handicapped. We are making every effort to handle calls with the usual speed and I hope the public will bear with us during the emergency."

FATALITIES DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Fatalities at coal mines during January declined about 25 per cent from January a year ago, according to an announcement today by the bureau of mines. The total last month was 148, compared with 197 last year, based on an estimated coal production of 43,255,666 tons last month, the death rate was 3.22 per million tons mined, compared with 4.13 for January, 1921.

DISCUSS CITY'S GAS LIGHTING CONTRACT

Mayor George H. Brown was in conference this forenoon with C. R. Pritchard, general manager of the Lowell Gas Light Co., relative to a renewal of the city's gas lighting contract, but no decision was reached.

The mayor announced that he is endeavoring to obtain a reduction in the figures presented to former Commissioner Donald Murphy after the contract had expired last July and that he would have other conferences with Mr. Pritchard on the matter in the near future.

The figures presented by the Gas Co. last summer and which still stand are: One year contract, $30.91 per light; 3-year contract, $29.12 per light; 5-year contract, $28.41 per light.

DOUKHOBOURS DENY MASSACRE CHARGE

NELSON, B. C., Feb. 27.—The Doukhobours of Canada, better known as the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, more fully expressed a "theoretical advocacy of massacre of their children and aged," according to the explanation now offered by Peter Verbovsky, president of the band, in a letter to the Daily News here.

He expressed some alarm at the apparent indication of the local police department that the members were contemplating migration to escape taxation in which event it might be found necessary to kill off children and aged persons who impeded the wanderers.

After apologizing to the Canadian public, particularly the women, the Doukhobours' chief explained that the children of the colony are on the verge of starvation, being deprived of milk through the forced sale of cows in 1920 for the payment of taxes.

Two Treaties Are Reported

Regarding the proposed Chinese customs revision had been made by Senator Underwood of Alabama, democratic leader and head of the special arms committee which drafted the tariff pact.

As a result a general report embodying the committee's recommendations regarding the four power pact treaty, the submarine and oil gas treaty and the two treaties favorably acted on today was prepared for submission to the senate so that it could begin debate on the pact as soon as a ratification vote is reached in the separate treaty relating to Yap. The leaders hoped to conclude the Yap debate during today's session and to bring up the four power pact tomorrow.

White House callers who have talked with President Harding on the four power pact treaty situation, and the impression today that Mr. Harding having assented to the pending reservation to the pact, intends to take no further hand in the fight on ratification.

The president was represented by callers to believe that while no reservations to the four power treaty are necessary, they are reported favorably by the senate foreign relations committee is agreeable to him in the interest of speedy ratification and for the sake of party harmony.

Some senate republican leaders while describing the treaty situation in the senate itself as still somewhat nebulous, believe that the four power pact will be ratified and not more than six republicans favorably relate to the treaty.

These leaders said today that at least 11 democrats were counted on to vote for the treaty with the possible bill that there will be more when the final roll is called.

DOUKHOBOURS DENY MASSACRE CHARGE

NELSON, B. C., Feb. 27.—The Doukhobours of Canada, better known as the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, more fully expressed a "theoretical advocacy of massacre of their children and aged," according to the explanation now offered by Peter Verbovsky, president of the band, in a letter to the Daily News here.

He expressed some alarm at the apparent indication of the local police department that the members were contemplating migration to escape taxation in which event it might be found necessary to kill off children and aged persons who impeded the wanderers.

After apologizing to the Canadian public, particularly the women, the Doukhobours' chief explained that the children of the colony are on the verge of starvation, being deprived of milk through the forced sale of cows in 1920 for the payment of taxes.

Alexander Raven, arrested for assault and battery, pleaded guilty and was continued until Wednesday for sentencing.

Daniel J. O'Connor, a young man who was arrested by Officers N. J. Murphy for obstructing a sidewalk in Andover street near Concord street, was found guilty and continued for two weeks. Officer McNally to report that this subject showed no improvement in his condition. The judge gave the young man a severe lecture and urged him to go out and get a job.

Claude J. Harvey, charged with assault and battery, was continued until March 7, on account of the withdrawal of attorneys from the case. The continuance was given that new counsel might be secured.

Charles J. Kennedy, a Draught man, appeared on a charge of drunkenness. It was learned that he has been under a suspended sentence of two months in the house of correction for some time. The man's mother is said to have urged that he get out of town, thinking he would be better off elsewhere. The judge ordered the former sentence filed and imposed a new sentence of five months in the same institution for some time. Kennedy said he would leave town at once.

John Parris, for drunkenness, was held in $300 bonds until tomorrow.

CATHOLIC NEWS

All local Catholic churches announced their preparations for the season of Lent at all masses yesterday, including the time of services and regulations for devotion prayer during the period which begins on Ash Wednesday, March 1. On Wednesday masses will be celebrated, and ashes distributed in the morning, afternoon and evening, the evening distribution to take place after services consisting of the rosary, a sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On Thursday afternoon and evening confessions will be heard in preparation for the first Friday of the month, and stations of the cross will be held in most churches on Friday evening.

Organized Labor Well Represented at the State House Hearing

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Representatives of organized labor, from every section of the commonwealth, stormed the state house today for the purpose of impressing upon the legislature the earnest opposition of the labor movement to legislation which would establish in the fourteenth court for industrial relations, such as now exists in Kansas.

This morning the committee began its hearings on a measure which is very similar to the Kansas law, and its regular meeting room was jammed to overflowing with those who, largely by invitation of the local union, had come to Boston to oppose the bill.

The measure provides for a court of three justices, each of whom is to be paid a salary of $10,000 a year. They are to be appointed by the governor, for three-year terms.

The court is created, the bill provides, shall have control over certain industries which are declared to be essential to the public welfare, including the manufacture, preparation or handling of food; the manufacture of wearing apparel; the mining or production of any mineral in common use for fuel or for transportation purposes; the manufacture or production of building materials; transportation of any of the above; and all public utilities.

Section 5 of the proposed act provides that "It is hereby declared and determined to be necessary for the public peace and general welfare of the people of this state that the industries, employments, public utilities and common carriers herein specified shall be operated with reasonable continuity and efficiency in order that the people of this state may live in peace and comfort and be supplied with the necessities of life. No person, firm, corporation or association of persons shall in any manner or to any extent, wilfully hinder, delay, limit or suspend such continuous and efficient operation for the purpose of evading the purpose and intent of this act, nor shall any person, firm, corporation or association of persons do or neglect or refuse to perform any duty or thing which may be required of him by the provisions of this act."

It is further provided that in case of a controversy arising between employers and workers, or between groups or crafts of workers, full power, authority and jurisdiction are granted to the industrial relations court to summon all necessary parties before it, and to make such temporary findings and orders as may be necessary to preserve the public peace and welfare and to preserve and protect the status of the parties, and finally to settle and adjust all such controversies.

Power and authority are given to the court to order such changes as it may deem necessary in the laws of any industry, employment, utility, group or craft, in the matter of working or living conditions, hours of labor, rules and practices, and wages. "It is hereby declared necessary," the bill says, "that workers engaged in any of the industries, employments, public utilities, or common carriers, shall receive a fair and reasonable and healthful and moral surroundings; and that capital invested therein shall receive at all times a fair rate of return to the owners."

Provision is made for appeal to the supreme judicial court from any order or decision of the court. Another section requires the court to recognize unions of employees, by their officers or attorneys, and expressly stipulates that it shall recognize the right of employees to bargain collectively.

Violations of the proposed act are made punishable by fines of not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. For neglecting others to violate the terms of the act, it is provided that the penalty shall be a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

ers for secret cupboards. A barrel, apparently filled with coal, was found to have a false bottom with a compartment containing about 30 pint bottles of moonshine.

Julius Matcovitz, a Dunstable farmer, was charged with illegal keeping of connection with the seizure of stills in his neighborhood. He was also fined $160, which he paid promptly.

Mrs. Elizabeth Couty, otherwise known as Elizabeth Morris, who was indicted for communicating with her long-lost daughter and went by the name of mourox of the police department after diligent search on his part, appeared this morning on a charge of polygamy, the complaint being sworn out by Trans-las Lee Dodge, in 1919. It is asserted that Dodge has proof to back up his charge, but a court of appeals has not yet entered a plea of not guilty and the case was continued until Feb. 6. It is said that Mrs. Couty has been married four times, and is still using her first husband's name.

Andrew Kremdas will spend the next few months in the house of correction as the result of an assault he is said to have committed on his brother-in-law. The brother-in-law showed a severely bruised and lacerated countenance to the judge, and the defendant's wife testified that he beat her up regularly.

Peter Kovacki was charged with interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty, said duty being the arrest of Whalley, a Gloucester man who was drunk and was being taken to the police station. Kovacki was ordered to pay a fine of $25. He asked for a continuance, that he might have time to pay his fine, and when this was not forthcoming he appealed, being held in $1000 bonds for superior court. A short time later he withdrew his appeal and paid the fine from a roll of bills in his pocket.

Alexander Raven, arrested for assault and battery, pleaded guilty and was continued until Wednesday for sentencing.

Daniel J. O'Connor, a young man who was arrested by Officers N. J. Murphy for obstructing a sidewalk in Andover street near Concord street, was found guilty and continued for two weeks. Officer McNally to report that this subject showed no improvement in his condition. The judge gave the young man a severe lecture and urged him to go out and get a job.

St. Columba's social club will hold a New Year's party on Tuesday evening in the parish hall, with Miss Mary Plunket, president of the organization, in charge, and Miss Sallie Lyons and Miss Mary Sullivan as assistants.

At St. Margaret's church yesterday the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, celebrated the 65th birthday anniversary of the Rev. E. O'Brien, the 73rd and 93rd, Rev. William P. Brennan the 11. On Tuesday evening at 7:30 there will be a meeting of the Ladies' sodality. On Wednesday mass will be celebrated at 7:30 and ashes will be distributed after mass and after the services at 7:30 in the evening. On Friday masses will be celebrated at 8:30 and 9:30, and during Lent there will be stations of the cross and benediction at 7:30 on Friday and Sunday evenings.

PORTO RICANS WANT INVESTIGATION MADE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The official record of the action of the Porto Rico senate in asking congress to investigate the acts of Gov. Kelly has been started to Washington by steamer and the record will be laid before the house by Delegate Davila, resident Porto Rico congressman.

Mr. Davila received today an additional message from President Barreto of the Porto Rico senate which said: "The governor has appointed the same persons whose nominations had been rejected as soon as the senate adjourned. Great public indignation exists. I am doing everything in my power to contain the despairing attitude of the people, fearing lest it may undo the good work we have just completed. We are all about to lose faith."

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. George Thorndike Trull and Miss Alice Russell Erskine were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Erskine, 25 Clark street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Arthur C. McGiffert, Jr., pastor of All Souls church. Miss Edith Cooper Brinkman, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while the best man was Mr. Walter Franklin Stiles, Jr., of Pittsburg. After June 1 the couple will make their home at 781 Andover street.

Cote-Trotter

Mr. Joseph A. Cote and Miss Victoria A. The marriage of Mr. Joseph W. Langevin and Miss Marie St. Jean took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Adolphe Marlon, O. M. I. The witnesses were Messrs. Adolphe Langevin and Napoleon St. Jean.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Bathing meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and uric acid disorders.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Bad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get the famous salts in made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Bad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv. "Love the most exact"

Start Fighting in So. Africa Mine Strike

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The first fighting in connection with the mining strike in the Rand district occurred early today, when a body of police charged two parties of strikers at Boksburg, using their clubs to quell disorder. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting ensued in which many casualties were suffered on both sides.

Come on Four Winds for Celebration

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Descendants of Pinus Friedman, who lived in Poland in 1790, left New York today for their respective homes after gathering there for their annual dinner. Some of them must travel half way around the world before arriving at their destination. The Friedmans, 225 of them, had to hire a big hall for the festivities.

The Jerseyites based their prediction on the fact that the side hill gouger is preening himself, with particular attention to the fur on his haunches.

Blood Transfusion Saves Life of Girl

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Physicians at the Massachusetts General hospital today said that a blood transfusion probably had saved the life of Mary Elizabeth Bruce, 17 years old, accidentally shot last night while sitting at the piano in her Everett home by her father, Lieut. James Bruce, of the Everett police department. Robert Bruce, an uncle, submitted to the transfusion. Lieut. Bruce was exhibiting the weapon, which had been in the attic for 18 years, when it was discharged.

Operettas for Benefit of St. Joseph's Branch of St. Vincent de Paul Society

Standing—Miss Hermine Forest, Miss Arthemise Hotin, Miss Carolin Desaulniers, Miss Jeanette Chevalier, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Mrs. B. Beauchesne, Miss Claire Dubois. Sitting—Miss Blanche Larue, Miss Juliette Vincent, Miss Marguerite Turgeon, Miss Fleur Ange Brousseau, Miss Cecile Morin, Miss Clara Richard.

"La Royal Dindon" and "La Repetition d'Athalie," two very enjoyable musical comedies, were presented at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening, the former by a group of the best talent of the C.M.A.C. and the latter by a group of women of St. Joseph's parish, who on previous occasions have appeared to advantage on the local amateur stage. The affair was given under the auspices of the C.M.A.C. under the general direction of Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I., and for the benefit of St. Joseph's branch of the St. Vincent de Paul society. The attendance at the afternoon performance filled the house, while in the evening standing room was at a premium. The affair was in the form of a battle of music and it was fortunate that no arrangements had been made for prizes, for the judges would have had a mighty difficult and ticklish job to award the prizes. Both operettas were rendered in a very able manner and much credit is due the performers as well as the directors.

In the afternoon "La Royal Dindon" was given first and in the evening, places were reversed, so as to facilitate the stage setting. At both performances the audience showed its appreciation with frequent applause and at the close of the evening performance the organizers, Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I., was warmly complimented for the success achieved.

"La Repetition d'Athalie" is a two-act operetta dating back to the early history of France. It unfolds an interesting story in which the queen, who appears as a peasant girl in one of her villages, is mistaken by her subjects as a member of the common set. She does not disclose her identity until long after she has been ridiculed and cast aside by another member of the nobility and her followers. The play contains numerous comic scenes as well as delightful musical numbers. The members of the cast at yesterday's performance are well known to the Lowell public as amateur performers and suffice it to say that all parts were well rendered.

Those who took part were Miss Blanche Larue, Miss Juliette Vincent, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Miss Claire Dubois, Miss Fleur Ange Brousseau, Miss Cecile Morin, Miss Caroline Desaulniers, Miss Jeanette Chevalier, Miss Marguerite Turgeon, Miss Emily Gaudette, Miss Hermine Forest, Miss Claire Richard, Miss Arthemise Hotin, Mrs. B. Beauchesne. The play was given under the personal direction of Miss Angelina Hotin and the accompanist was Miss Lucie Rheault.

The soloists were Misses Marguerite Turgeon, Fleur Ange Brousseau, Hermine Forest, Emily Gaudette and Cecile Morin and their singing was very pleasing. In the little roles Mrs. Smith and Miss Arthemise Hotin proved once more that they are clever amateurs. They were ably assisted by the other members of the cast.

"La Royal Dindon," a one-act musical comedy by Luigi Bordese was interpreted in a very satisfactory manner. This little sketch deals with Henri IV, who during the war, while traveling incognito, was recognized by one of his officers in a country town hotel, where numerous of his soldiers were enjoying themselves at the expense of the innkeeper. The king was impersonated by Wilfred P. Calise, Jr., who has had considerable experience in this line before and his work was very creditable. Ernest J. Dupont, who is possessed of a delightful baritone voice, interpreted the role of the officer of the king in a very satisfactory manner. His singing was particularly pleasing. Another old-timer, again delighted his audience, Master Raymond Alexander son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alexander of Moody street, as Gaston a 12-year-old boy, whose sole ambition is to become a soldier and later a general, demonstrated to the large audience that he can sing and act. His work was very commendable. E. J. Laroche sustained the comic role.

The operetta contains numerous solo, quartets and choruses and all were well rendered. Those who took part in the chorus as soldiers of the king were Emile Berger, Adolphe B. Brassard, Dr. A. H. Brassard, Alfred Ducharme, Edouard F. Grogier, Arthur J. Grenier, Wilfrid B. Lajeunesse, Isidore Michaud, Edouard Montmarquet, Jules Morrisette, Z. A. Norreand, Arthur Laroche, George Perreault, A. Toussaint, Dr. G. B. Calise, C. Malin and Oiler J. David. The musical part of the comedy was given under the able direction of Telesphore Malo, choirmaster at St. Joseph's, while Ernest J. Dupont and W. P. Calise, Jr. looked after the stage setting.

Between the acts "O Canada" and "The Star Spangled Banner" were sung by a mixed choir, and a pleasing vocal duet was given by Miss Blanche Larue and Mr. Fred Vennet. Orchestra selections were also given. The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of the following: J. A. N. Chretien, Adolphe Brassard, Miss Angelina Hotin, Miss Eustice E. Jodoin, Raymond Bourgeois, Emile Lemire and Joseph A. Schiller.

Those who took part in the performance will be entertained at a banquet in the assembly hall of the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street at 6:30 o'clock this evening. At the close of the dinner there will be an impromptu program of vocal selections and readings and a good time is in store for all who have helped in the worthy cause of the St. Vincent de Paul society.

Urge Government to Oust "Spooks"

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 27.—Extraordinary phenomena, which drove Alex MacDonald and his family from their home at Caledonia Mills have apparently led to widespread reports of "spooks" in Nova Scotia, and imaginative children are declared to have been seeing things in the dark. Angry parents are declaring that the Nova Scotia government should take immediate measures to dispose of the alleged "ghosts." Fire underwriters are discussing suggestions that the mysterious fires have been due to electric phenomena, caused by the powerful wireless stations at Glace Bay. Inquiries received here indicate a small army of American newspapermen is preparing to follow Dr. Walter Prince, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research who has accepted an invitation to undertake an investigation of the mystery.

Church Council Urges Treaties' Support

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The churches of the country, in a message today from the commission on international justice and good will of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, in America, were urged to give their active support to the treaties negotiated by the Washington conference as constituting the "first steps towards a warless world."

Belief Slain Man Victim of Gang Row

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Westchester county authorities were today working on the theory that the unidentified man whose body, stabbed in eight places, was found on the motor road near Ellsford late yesterday was the victim of a bootleggers' row. This county has recently been flooded they say with illicit whiskey. Several persons who saw the body have failed to identify it. The victim was well dressed, and was apparently about 32 years of age. There were six knife wounds in the back, one in the neck and an eighth in the head. All marks of identification had been cut from the clothing. Money was found on his person, which, the police say, dispels the theory that robbery was the motive.

Urges Education for Illiterate Adults

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—More comprehensive public education for illiterate adults, was urged by Dr. Frank P. Graves, New York state commissioner of education before the department of superintendence, National Education Association. Dr. Graves asserted that out of 25 pupils of school age, only 10 complete the eight grades, and but two finish the high school. The proportion of illiterates and aliens among adults as estimated from statistics compiled during the war, Dr. Graves said, was "still more disturbing."

FIRST WOMAN DRY AGENT

Carrying on Crusade Started a Generation Back in Her Family

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27.—Miss Georgia E. Hopley, the first woman general prohibition agent to be attached to the mobile enforcement forces at national prohibition headquarters, Washington, in her new work will be carrying on a crusade started a generation back in her family.

In 1872-73, when he who talked of prohibition was accounted out of his head, a valiant band of women braving hoots and jeers, started to make this city unsafe for liquor. Mrs. Georgiana Hopley, who is dead now, was a member of that band. She was the "first woman general prohibition agent's" mother.

Miss Hopley comes of a long line of newspaper folk. One brother was the editor of the first and only prohibition paper in Crawford county.

Seven of her brothers and sisters still are in newspaper work, here or elsewhere.

The late John Hopley, her father, as editor of the Bucyrus Journal, was accorded the title of "Nestor of Ohio Journalism."

Miss Hopley has another "first" to her credit. She is said to have been the first woman in Ohio to enter active newspaper work.

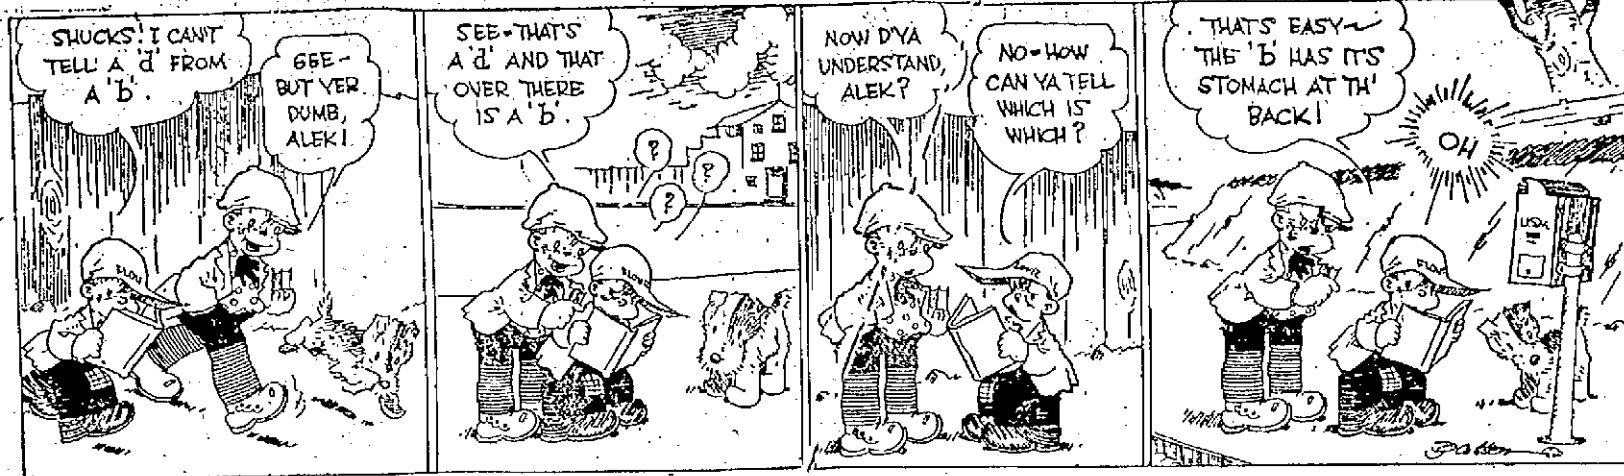

Her initial newspaper job was as a reporter on the Columbus, O., Times.

In 1900 Governor George K. Nash appointed her to represent women of the state at the Paris exposition, and she remained in France and England from May until December. She made trips to England and the continent in 1908, 1910 and 1911.

In 1916, Miss Hopley had charge of the women's publicity in the Frank H. Willis campaign in Ohio for the republican nomination for governor, and in 1919, was attached to the same capacity to the successful campaign of James J. Thomas for mayor of Columbus.

In 1920, she had charge of the publicity work for women in the republican presidential campaign in Ohio.

In her new work, she will undertake the spread of publicity in the national prohibition enforcement cases, and will, it is expected, travel extensively over the country. She hopes to have delegated to her, the education of children of the country in the proper observance of prohibition laws.

EGYPTIANS BOYCOTT BRITISH GOODS

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Feb. 27.—In declaring a boycott against all goods of English manufacture, the Egyptians have adopted the tactics of the nationalists of India. They have heard that the Indians have been successful in their attempt to boycott British goods and are endeavoring to use the same means to bring the British government to terms.

As yet the extent of the boycott is not clear. However, many Egyptian merchants are now refusing to buy English goods and salesmen calling on Egyptian customers are promptly told that he values no quotations on such merchandise.

But the great majority of importers and exporters are foreigners who desire to continue to buy and sell in the best markets.

If the Egyptians are able to hold together on the boycott program and force the importers to no longer deal in English cotton piece goods, iron and steel products, the result may be serious for English factories in Lancashire and Birmingham.

British banks are included in the boycott. It is stated that considerable sums of money have been withdrawn from English banks in Egypt and placed in other foreign banks.

School boys have boycotted the schools and the native bar association voted to suspend all work.

It has been proposed also to restrict the cultivation of Egyptian cotton, which would be of interest to the cotton growers of the United States. It has been suggested that the Egyptians should refuse to export cotton to England which now takes 80 per cent of the Egyptian cotton crop.

Certain members of the Effendi class, Egyptians of leisure, have announced that they would come to drink English whiskey and refuse to wear short-cropped mustaches as the English do. Various other boycotting plans have been proposed.

ACCEPTS CALL TO PLYMOUTH CHURCH

Rev. Alfred Rodman Hussey has accepted a call to the pastorate of the old First church, Plymouth, and will be installed at an early date. Mr. Hussey was for 14 years pastor of the First Unitarian church, Baltimore, Md., and for four years served the Unitarian church in this city, being instrumental in bringing about the federation of his church with the High Street Congregational society in All Souls' church. He has recently been literary editor of the Christian Register, and officiating at the Plymouth church since last fall.

RUSSIANS FIRE AT AMERICAN

J. B. Murray, World War Hero of Woburn, Wounded in Moscow

Identity of Shooters Not Yet Discovered by Authorities

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—J. B. Murray of Woburn, Mass., connected with the American Relief Administration, suffered a slight flesh wound when fired upon in the street early Sunday morning. Murray was accompanied by a Mr. Callahan of Fall River, Mass.

Whether the shot was fired by a highwayman or by street patrols who mistook the actions of the Americans, has not been determined.

Murray and Callahan are new arrivals in Moscow and have heard many exaggerations of the perils to be encountered in the streets. They were homeward bound from a concert when they saw a flash ahead of their hands, and the occupants with their hands in the air.

Thinking it was a holdup and they would be the next victims, the Americans jumped from their sleigh and ran.

One hitting Murray, who, however, was able to continue running and reached a nearby house, where a crowd quickly gathered.

Neither one understands Russian, but they succeeded in making the patrols, who quickly arrived, understand that they were Americans and were assisted home.

American Relief Administration employees familiar with Moscow are inclined to the theory that street patrols had halted the sleigh ahead of the Americans and that, when they witnessed the sudden flight of the occupants of the second conveyance, they fired, intending to halt them for investigation.

World War Hero

WOBBURN, Feb. 27.—J. B. Murray, reported wounded in Moscow, is a veteran of the world war. He is 29 years old. He went overseas with Base Hospital No. 6, American Expeditionary Forces and remained in France until the end of the war when he went to Russia. Before the war he was a stenographer.

$228,000,000 FOR SOVIET MILITARY FORCES

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—Soviet Russian military appropriation for the first nine months of 1922 totals 556,923,000 gold rubles, or about $228,000,000. Its naval appropriations aggregated 2,000,000,000 gold rubles, or about $800,000,000. The total expenditure for army and navy to about $264,000,000, according to the budget approved by the recent congress.

This expenditure is based on the present size of the army and navy. The army, according to latest reports, numbers somewhat over 1,500,000 men and the combined strength of the soldiers, the naval personnel and special troops is about 1,700,000.

Food and forage for the army is provided for in an appropriation aggregating about $12,000,000, which is greater than the amount of money America has already given for the relief of famine in the Volga districts and more than the amounts given by other nations to relieve distress in Soviet Russia.

Western soldiers, particularly American soldiers, will be amazed at the low rate of pay for military men. An ordinary soldier's pay is 20,000 rubles a month, which is only about ten cents, or less than the price of a Russian pound of white bread. Captains get the equivalent of about $150. Division commanders receive about $3 a month.

Budget figures for the Voevka, or "Cheka," show that this all-powerful executive and judicial organization, which is the chief object of attack from abroad, as well as within Russia, is to cost $10,000,000.

The supreme economic council, which is endeavoring to reconstruct Russian industry gets $77,000,000; agriculture gets $26,000,000; education $1,600,000, and the department of health $58,000,000.

The contemplated expenditures total 1,577,000,000 gold rubles while the estimated income totals 1,647,000,000 gold rubles, leaving a deficit equivalent to about $115,000,000.

The chief sources from which it is estimated the state's income will be derived are nationalized industries which are expected to yield $44,000,000 and $212,000,000 income from grain and other products taken as taxes in kind. The income from transportation is placed at $1,000,000,000.

ST. COLUMBA'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The first communion breakfast of St. Columba's Holy Name society was held in the Pawtucket school yesterday morning and members listened to an excellent and brilliant address on the responsibilities of the Catholic men of today by James C. Reilly, assistant district attorney for Northern Middlesex county.

The members of the society, 200 strong, attended communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Columba's church. The mass was celebrated by Rev. John G. Hogan, the organization's spiritual director, who complimented the members on their attendance at communion. Adjournment was taken, after the mass, to the hall of the Pawtucket school, where breakfast was served.

President Warren P. Riordan presented Mr. Reilly as the principal speaker, and a splendid welcome was accorded the guest. The great significance of receiving communion, and the privilege attached thereto, was stressed by Mr. Reilly, who reminded his auditors that this privilege was accorded men of today through the hardships, sufferings and persecutions of their ancestors, and that the practice of their faith might be retained. The events which led up to the public manifestation of today were carefully reviewed.

The increasing resistance of the church against social and religious unrest, together with the fact that what was once pagan Rome is the capital of the Catholic world, was spoken of by Mr. Reilly, who said that the recent election of a new pope is a beautiful manifestation of its leadership in Catholicity.

Lowell were discussed, in the course of tracing the spread of the Catholic religion from Ireland to America. He concluded by admonishing the members to lead truly Catholic lives, thus meriting the great happiness of faith received and preparing themselves to ward off insidious intellectual attacks against their religion.

"For God and For Country," the motto of the Catholic Welfare council, was spoken of by Rev. Fr. Hogan, who urged the members to keep it constantly in mind.

Included in the musical program carried out during the breakfast were songs by William Moss and Andrew Doyle and piano selections by Charles Donahue and Francis J. Ralls.

At a brief business meeting held before adjournment rising votes of thanks were given Mr. Reilly for his interesting talk, to the school committee for the use of the hall and to Martin Lydon for courtesies extended in connection with the catering.

Ten members of the Junior Italy Name and ten from the senior society were appointed on motion of the president to arrange for a minstrel show, the proceeds to go to the society's treasury.

In concluding the meeting, the members sang "The Star Spangled Banner," with Mr. Ralls as accompanist.

Princess Mary Receives Overflowing Number of Wedding Gifts

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles spent the last morning before their wedding receiving a number of individuals and deputations whose offerings swelled the vast collection of gifts overflowing the state rooms of Buckingham palace. To each visitor bringing a present the princess expressed her thanks. During the past fortnight she has received dozens of these acknowledgments daily, rushing from the receiving rooms from time to time to give her bridesmaids opportunities for the necessary trying on of her many new gowns.

The demands upon her time have been so great that hundreds of persons have been obliged to leave gifts with her secretaries or the palace attendants, and to such persons written acknowledgments will be sent.

Rodman Wanamaker of New York, who has presented a pair of silver candlesticks, was among those received by the princess and the viscount this forenoon.

Steel Mill Resumes Full Time

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Feb. 27.—Several hundred steel workers here went back to work today with increased operations in the steel mills of this district. The Trumbull Steel Co., of Warren, resumed operations on a 100 per cent basis today, the first mill in this district to reach capacity since the depression began. Open hearth steel production today reached more than two-thirds of capacity, with the Carnegie Steel Co. More bar and plate mills are running than heretofore and fabricating plants also report better operations. There is no change in the blast furnace production.

RUB PAINS FROM
SORE, LAME BACK

Back hurts you? Can't straighten up without sudden pain, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil. Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back, and out comes the pain. It is harmless, and doesn't burn the skin. Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small tinful bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica. Because your back will never hurt, or cause any more misery, it never disappoints, and has been recommended for 60 years.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents.

"Prevarication" is a euphemism for straight lying, as will be observed at the R. F. Keith Theatre, this week, when Bert Baker & Co. present a farce of that name. It sounds better to state that one is prevaricating, but it means just the same as the harder word. In this farcical affair, written by Mr. Baker himself, what eventually turns out to be a real life starts as merely a subterfuge, a sort of white lie told without malicious intent. It is to cover it up, however, some real falsehoods are told, and in the end it all has to be confessed. The prevaricator simply can't get away with it. Things get hotter and hotter for him. The farce is most capably acted all the time in Harry's work as one will note the minute his act begins. In Harry Jolson is one of the very best comedians in the country today. His act is bright, original and clean.

"Scoring touchdowns" with their songs is what Edw. Furman and Wm. Nash do. Excellent singers and comedians, they will grace any vaudeville bill. Indeed, do audiences allow them to depart without demanding more from them. They have the happy faculty of putting songs over brilliantly.

Frank Gaby comes pretty close to his last name. He has a howlingly gutteral sort of talk which ranges over a lot of subjects. Gaby has a note in his work which others have tried to imitate, but without success. Dunham & O'Malley in comical musical capers are guaranteed to keep an audience interested, while La Dora & Beckman do a little bit of everything from acrobatics to singing and dancing. Homer Romaine is an aerial eccentric. Added to these seven acts are the Pathe News, the Tenors of the day, a traveling and Acapala Follies.

THEATRE

The great Rex Beach production, "The Iron Trail," depicting the railroad engineers fighting the trail through the almost insurmountable barriers of Alaska opened at the Italian theatre this afternoon. There is also a sumpy comedy and a set of up-to-date Klugegrams.

CROWN THEATRE

What is declared to be the most elaborate motion picture hall-room scene ever filmed is one of the features of "The Restless Sex" which will be the chief attraction at the Crown theatre Monday and Tuesday. The picture is a tremendous picture full of thrill and dash and should appeal to people of all movie tastes. On the same program for the afternoon is a new production "Franch Heels." There is also a sumpy comedy and a set of up-to-date Klugegrams.

Over six hundred people take part in the scene. Since they are costumed as gods and goddesses of Greek mythology, most of them come from the chorus of current Broadway attractions. Joseph Urban, well known for the artistic scenery which he has designed for the Polles and other prominent productions, is responsible for the beautiful ball-room sets. First, the famous Italian designer whose costumes are used exclusively in the Italian Opera House, created the exquisite gowns worn by Miss Davis and the other principals.

"The Restless Sex" portrays the romance of a pretty society girl who has ambitions to become more in the world than an idle wife. Ralph Kerrard and Evelyn Blackwell are the stars in the supporting cast and the picture, which was produced by Cosmopolitan for Paramount release, was directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

You may laugh with Douglas MacLean when he appears in his latest Paramount comedy, "Chickens" at the Crown theatre Monday and Tuesday. If you've ever tried to raise chickens, you'll appreciate this story. Gladys George is the leading woman.

A bevy of pretty girls who can sing and dance—products of Broadway's theatrical circles—will help to feature the coming week's production by Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company at the Opera House, in the presentation of Willis Collier's great stage play, "The Northern Trail."

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint faded, shabby, drab, dresses, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, hangings, capes, everything like new. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed, even if you have never dyed before. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.—Adv.

triumph, "Pitter Patter," a musical adaptation of the well-known stage success, "Caught in the Rain." It's the first musical comedy endeavor of the present stock company, and judging from advance information, it gives every promise of being the very best thing of its kind ever attempted here. Almost invariably the musical efforts of the average stock company are the least perfect of their usual varied endeavors, but in this instance something quite out of the ordinary is predicted. "Pitter Patter" is originally produced on Broadway, and later at the Shubert, Boston, experienced no difficulty in winning genuine favor with the critics and public alike, and the rehearsals of the past week indicate that the same characteristic success will mark the local presentation. Miss Fields, whose past work in musical comedy stamps her as the possessor of an exceptionally fine singing voice, will be heard in some of the best song hits of her stage career, and the other members of the cast, including Florence Hill, Harry Hoffmann, Vincent Dennis, Edmund Martin and Sam Crawford, will also be pleasantly cast. Adrian Perrin, a pleasing tenor, comes with the girls from the original production, and he will be heard in several numbers, whose choruses, of course, will be entirely satisfactory.

The advance sale of tickets is large. Pitter get your seats well in advance for capacity audiences are assured at every performance. Attend the Monday night performance. It will be as smooth and satisfying as any. Tel. 261. Box office open daily from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Pauline Frederick in "The Lure of Jade" and Frank Mayo, assisted by Herbert Heyes and an all-star cast in "Crack Your Heels" will be the chief attractions for the first three days of this week. Tomorrow night the management will introduce something new in local theatricals. After the night performance a "get-together" will be held at which general dancing to music by a real jazz orchestra will be enjoyed in the spacious foyer. All patrons who attend the night performance will be privileged to remain and enjoy the pleasures of the dance.

SALVATION ARMY BARS THE FRYING-PAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The Salvation Army will distribute no more frying-pans in Chicago. For many years the frying-pan has been the culinary stand-by of the poor family. It will be so no more, not if the army can prevent it. Brigadier Annie Cowden, territorial director for all the organization's work among women and children, has discovered that 35 per cent of Chicago's children are undernourished. She took up the matter with Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen, national home economics expert, and the death warrant of the frying-pan was the result. According to Mrs. Allen, 50 per cent of all meals can be traced to improperly prepared food, and 10 per cent of all inefficiency is credited to the same cause.

Brigadier Cowden, after months of investigation, agrees with Mrs. Allen that one of the principal causes of malnutrition is the well known frying-pan. Mrs. Allen stated that it isn't so much the quality of food as poor preparation of food which is responsible for the under-nourishment of children. Denaturalized breakfast foods, careless cooking, and above all, the inefficient frying-pan are the root of the evil, she contends.

Brigadier Cowden said the Salvation Army through hundreds of slum homes and settlement houses in every part of the world is trying to educate slum mothers in the healthful preparation of foods, that as the 35 per cent of under-nourished children in Chicago were found equally in the homes of the poor, the well-to-do, and even the wealthy, great benefits would follow more intelligent cooking.

EMBROIDERY AN AID TO NEW FROCKS

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Wool embroidery is an interesting feature of the light silk frocks being shown for summer wear. And, as in this class frock, such embroidery is always brightly colored, intense, outstanding.

A combination of blue and orange is the rather startling color note which extends panelwise down the side opening of the dress and bands the sleeves. Otherwise the garment is quite colorless.

HON. JOHN J. HOGAN DEAD

Well Known Citizen Died
Sunday at His Home in
Clark Road

Hon. John J. Hogan died yesterday morning at his home in Clark road. He was in his 66th year. Death came after an illness of several months, although for an even longer period of time he had been unable to remain active in his many business duties in local banking and legal circles.

Standing as one of Lowell's most prominent citizens, for years closely identified with the city's advancement, he was the city's first lawyer, a banker, in politics and in club and fraternal life. Mr. Hogan was one of the community's best known and most highly respected men.

In more recent years his activities were confined almost wholly to his legal work as senior member of the law firm of John J. and William A. Hogan and as president of the Washington Savings Institution, but in earlier life he was prominent in the field of politics, both in city and state. Also, he was director of the Lowell Trust Co., and president of the Lowell Insured Wire Co.

Mr. Hogan was born in Lowell, July 10, 1856. He received his education in the public schools and at the Lowell academy. He began the study of law in the office of Jeremiah Crowley. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1882. One year after he made his first appearance in local politics, serving in the common council for two years and in the city council for three years. In 1885 and 1886 he served in the state legislature, and from 1891 to 1895 filled the office of city collector of Lowell.

The rapid development of his law business began at that time and from then on he gave himself almost wholly to local practice. The work was marked with signal success and he appeared as counsel in many important cases.

In 1914 Mr. Hogan was elected to the governor's council from the sixth district, being the only Democrat ever to represent it. During the term as governor of Hon. David I. Walsh, Mr. Hogan was appointed to the Massachusetts civil service commission. At an earlier date he was a member of the first state board of education.

At the time of his death, Mr. Hogan was vice president of the Lowell High School Alumni association, and a member of the Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts and American Bar associations. His fraternal and club connections included membership in the Lowell Athletic club, the Lowell Royal Arcanum, the Lowell and Gumbo association, the Lowell Fish and Game association. He was a member of the Inmaculate Conception church.

He is survived by four daughters, Mabel, Helen, E. Irene and Margaret, and one son, John J. Hogan, Jr., and two brothers, William A. and Daniel E. Hogan.

BARBERS ARE STILL OUT

Tonsorial Artists in Fight to Finish—Organizer Coming
to Lowell

Declaring that the union barbers now on strike in Lowell and vicinity won't give up their peaceful war for better wages, but will "fight to a finish," and assured today by the International Journeymen Barbers' headquarters at Indianapolis, of "every support, both financial and moral," the journeymen local in this city made arrangements today to send Anthony Melino, one of the best known organizers on the pay rolls of journeymen barbers' headquarters in Indiana, who telegraphed Secretary Martin J. Har, of the local union this morning that he would be here either today or tomorrow.

"We haven't lost our courage, but propose to carry forward our campaign for better living wages from now on in vigorous style," said Secretary Har this morning.

"No other shops have been signed up as yet, but several are talking business. We believe that another week or two will show real results, and that the shops who returned their cards, will ask for them again and will be willing to pay us decent living wages. We can't work for the new weekly rate and pay our bills. We simply want to be treated fairly, but the union has secured one master barber's consideration and acknowledgment of our fair claims to decent wages right off, the very first day of the strike, as you know."

Telegrams from International headquarters received by Secretary Har this morning, included the following:

"The International headquarters proposes to loyally support Lowell union barbers in their demands. Strike benefits of $10 weekly for each member of the union on strike, will go forward from headquarters at once and will be maintained until the wage matter is adjusted."

The news was received by Secretary Har and the striking barbers, with enthusiasm, as no strike benefits from International headquarters had been received up to date. The letter is one year and nine months after the union continues for an indefinite period, or until an agreement is reached between striking barbers and shop proprietors.

A special meeting of the local union has been called for this evening at headquarters, to hear reports from the field in this city, and to take further action. International Organizer Melino may be on hand for this meeting.

The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker William A. Mack.

TECHNICAL—The funeral services of Mrs. Mary Mitchell were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home, 42 Blaisdell street, and were largely attended. Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church, officiated. The bearers were Messrs. J. W. Brown, Joseph White, Herbert Lancaster, Richard Mills, James and Thomas Murray. Burial took place in the cemetery at Westford. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph A. Har.

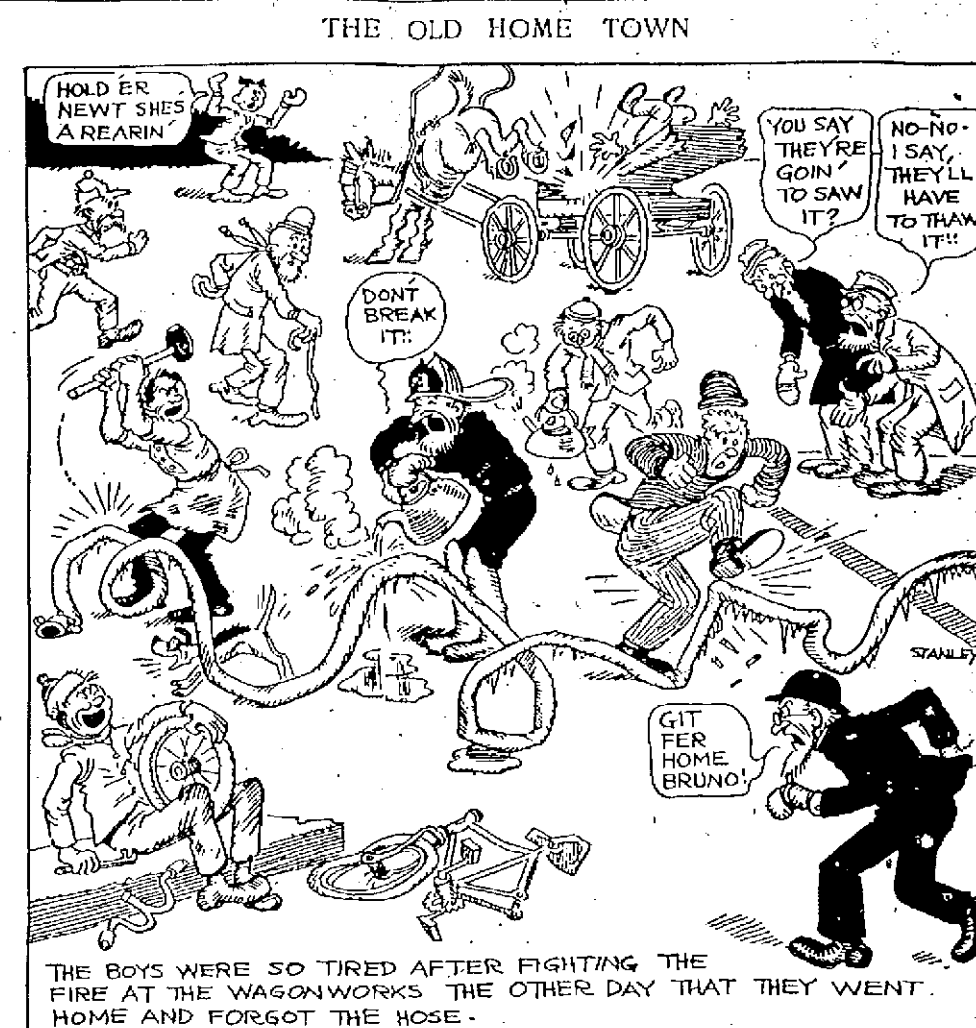

WATKINS—The funeral of Charles H. Watkins took place Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Undertaker John A. Wetlock, 42 South street, at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Karl P. Meister, pastor of the Centralville M. E. church. There were many flowers. The bearers were Clifford A. Brown, George H. Brown, George H. Brown and Henry Shore. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery.

METCALP—The funeral services of Mrs. Anna Metcalp were held at her home, 93 Vernon street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Arthur C. McGilfert, Jr., pastor of All Souls church, officiating. The bearers were Rev. Taylor, Charles W. Leach, Frederick H. Woodward and Nelson D. Keabish. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, where the funeral services were read by Rev. Mr. McGilfert, Jr. The funeral was in charge of Hiram C. Brown, under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

MARTIN—The funeral of John Martin took place Saturday afternoon from his home, 115 Gorham street, and was largely attended. At St. Anthony's church at 3 o'clock, the prayers were read by Rev. John S. Barry. There were many flowers. The bearers were the following members of St. Anthony's church: Fraternally, Maynard C. Cunha, Tachell, John P. Souza, Jr., Mathews Thomas, George P. Cunha, Jose Corra Placido and Manuel Gaudin. The funeral services were read by Rev. John S. Barry. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Hiram C. Brown.

LEONARD—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Leonard took place this morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Leonard, 14 Shaw street, at 10 o'clock. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker M. McDonough Sons.

PERGONY—The funeral of Henri A. Pergony took place this morning from his home, 7 Thibault avenue, at 10 o'clock. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker M. McDonough Sons.

MRS. ARISTIN B. FLATHER

Step-Mother of Treasurer of Boot Mills Died Yesterday
in Nashua

Mrs. Aristin B. Flather, step-mother of Frederick A. Flather of this city, treasurer of the Boot Mills, died yesterday at her home in Nashua, N. H., after a six-weeks' illness. Deceased on her maternal side, was a direct descendant of Maj. Simon Willard, who came to America in 1631 and took a prominent part in the early colonial affairs, both civil and military.

Mrs. Flather went to Nashua, N. H., about 60 years ago and had since made her home in that city. She was the widow of Joseph Flather, long a leading manufacturer of Nashua, and was connected with the Chestnut Street M. E. church of that city, the Kings' Daughters Benevolent association and Home for Aged Women. Besides her stepson in this city she leaves a son, ex-Police Commissioner Herbert L. Flather of Nashua; two daughters, Miss Emma A. Flather of Nashua and Mrs. Wallace N. MacBriar of Seattle, Wash., and a stepdaughter, Miss Alice V. Flather of this city.

As deacon and Rev. Boldue, O.M.I. sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Telesphore Malo rendered the Gregorian chant. The bearers were Messrs. Joseph Dussault, Edmund Laro, Louis Sincelas, Joseph Howard, Alfred Pomeroy and Arthur Lough. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph A. Har.

BEAUCHAMP—The funeral of Louis Beauchamp took place this morning from the home of his sister, Mrs. Mathilda Poirer, 71 Fisher street. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Louis church at 9 o'clock. The bearers were Messrs. Joseph Dussault, Edmund Laro, Louis Sincelas, Joseph Howard, Alfred Pomeroy and Arthur Lough. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph A. Har.

WELLS—The funeral of Miss Annie Wells, well known in this city, took place this morning from her home in Charlestown at 9 o'clock. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker M. McDonough Sons.

HARRIS—The funeral of Mr. Sylvester Harris took place this morning from his late home, 50 Fay street, at 9 o'clock and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where, at 10 o'clock, a solemn high mass was celebrated. The bearers were Messrs. Joseph Dussault, Edmund Laro, Louis Sincelas, Joseph Howard, Alfred Pomeroy and Arthur Lough. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. L. A. Nolin, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph A. Har.

LAFORTE—The funeral of Thomas Laforte took place this morning from his home, 11 Ford street, at 10 o'clock. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker M. McDonough Sons.

WATKINS—The funeral of Charles H. Watkins took place Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Undertaker John A. Wetlock, 42 South street, at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Karl P. EXPRESS EMPLOYEES HIT WOMEN TO BE ADMITTED

Railroad Labor Board Cuts
Out Free Transportation
for Express Employees

Free transportation for railway express employees goes under the railroad labor board's latest expense-cutting gauling with a vengeance in a new set of rules just promulgated and received at the Middlesex street headquarters of the express carriers. No longer will employees who handle the express matter on the rails receive free transportation passes here, there and everywhere, as made possible by the alliance of the railroads and the express companies during the federal administration during the winning-of-the-war era.

Railroad express employees have been placed on the same basis for working hours as the railroad clerks who do similar work by the Railroad Labor Board. According to word received at the Middlesex street station today, the board's latest decision becomes effective March 1.

The latest ruling eliminates time and one-half pay for the ninth hour and creates a "split trick" of eight hours with a spread of twelve at straight time rates.

The new rules supersede the national agreement made under federal control with the American Railway Express company and cover about 75,000 employees, several thousand shop men having been included in rules negotiated by the company and the federated shop crafts last year.

Straight time will be paid for the first nine hours work each day, although the rules remain in principal force, but as constituting a day's work. Time and one-half will be paid for all work over nine hours instead of after eight hours.

The "split trick" arrangement permits men to work when needed most, even at widely separated hours, without penalizing the express company for overtime. "Split tricks" were authorized under the old agreement when five or more men were employed, but the new rules will be paid as in the past.

For employees paid by the month, 240 hours constitute a month, but overtime will not be paid until after 270 hours.

The board set a rate of 60 cents an hour for men employed in train service, but as constituting a day's work. Time and one-half will be paid for all work over nine hours instead of after eight hours.

Among several eliminated rules is that providing free transportation for employees. This was made possible by the alliance of the railroad and the express companies during the federal administration, but is now cancelled.

STRIKE-BREAKERS ORDERED FROM PUTNAM AVENUE HOUSE

More Than 50 Strikers on Picket Duty at the Bay State Plant Today---Pickets Were Out Before Morning Whistle Blew---Disturbance in Middlesex Street---Big Meeting Held This Morning---Statement by President Hanley

Imported strike-breakers housed in a dwelling on Putnam avenue were ordered to find a boarding place elsewhere this morning, when 25 textile union pickets followed the out-of-town workers from their temporary dwellings to the gates of the Bay State Cotton Corporation and later informed the boarding house keeper who the men were.

More than 50 strikers were on picket duty this morning, and 150 are expected to be at the various employment entrances to the Bay State mills tonight when the whistle blows. Considerable more organized work was done this morning in picketing the Bay State plant than has been done before. Arrangements were made at last night's meeting of the strikers at Trades and Labor headquarters, to have the pickets out before the mill gates half an hour before the morning whistle. Three strike-breakers turned back when they reached Marginal street at 6.15 o'clock, and informed the pickets that they were "out of it."

Bay State said this morning that that department in the new building was going along smoothly, with three new men hired today. Several employees obtained in outside cities last week by the management, failed to report for work this morning. Union pickets declared they had left the city. This noon, the pickets remained downtown at textile union headquarters, and the Marginal street territory was deserted except for the presence of three policemen from headquarters, hired by the mill management. The trio of bluecoats are new ones, taking the places of those assigned for this special duty last week. None of the officers found any troublesome work this morning, although they had to order several patrols to "keep moving" when they remained too long at the entrance to the Bay State offices. There were no signs of any trouble. The textile workers on duty this morning. Continued on Page Four

G. A. R. Refuses to Honor General Lee

WORCESTER, Feb. 27.—The proposal from the American Legion that the G. A. R. in the future honor the memory of Gen. Robert E. Lee by celebrating his birthday, Jan. 19, has been turned down by George H. Ward Post, G. A. R. Post Commander Darling, speaking for the post, declared that because Lee resigned his commission in the United States army and then devoted four years of his life in trying to split the nation by fighting the federal government it was a poor example to the youth of the nation to lionize him.

Liquor Squad Active Over Week-End—Booze Cases in Court Today

As a result of about 30 raids by the liquor squad on Saturday, two men paid fines of $150 each in district court this morning. Antonio Miranda, who was brought into court several days ago for illegal keeping and whose case was continued, appeared as the result of a raid on the premises in the rear of 32 South street, where, it is alleged, a large amount of illicit liquor was being sold. On a plea of guilty Judge Bright ordered a fine of $150. In this case it is reported that Sergeant Winn and Officers Conroy, Moore, Clark, Dwyer, Noye and Federal Officers Sholden and Powers saw a number of men enter the house and come out with bottles of "shine" concealed in lunch boxes. Upon entering the house openings were found in the walls and floors and the window sills turned out to be covered with sawdust. Continued on Page Four

SUPREME COURT BACKS WOMEN

Declares 19th Amendment or Woman's Suffrage to be Constitutional

Justice Brandeis Delivers Opinion Which Brings Long Fight to Close

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The woman's suffrage or 19th amendment was today declared constitutional by the supreme court. The opinion was delivered by Justice Brandeis.

The supreme court dismissed for want of jurisdiction the suit brought by Charles S. Fairchild of New York, who sought to challenge the constitutionality of the amendment. The woman suffrage or nineteenth amendment to the constitution was challenged in the supreme court in proceedings instituted by Charles S. Fairchild of New York, for himself and in behalf of the American Constitutional League, to enjoin the secretary of state from issuing and the attorney general from enforcing a proclamation declaring the ratification of the amendment, and by Oscar Leser and other citizens of Maryland, constituting an organization known as the "Maryland League for State Defense." The former proceedings were based on the ground that the amendment had not been validly adopted, and the latter that the amendment was unconstitutional.

The federal courts in the District of Columbia and the state courts in Maryland, where the cases, respectively, were originally brought, ruled against the original plaintiffs. In the oral arguments in the supreme court in the Fairchild case, the government contended that the secretary of state having issued the ratification proclamation there was nothing to restrain, and that the case therefore became moot, not presenting a controversy for judicial decision. In the Leser case, the government acknowledged that the proceedings had been instituted by voters who had sufficient interest in the amendment, but contended that the state also refused to question its constitutionality.

LEGION HEAD OPPOSES DELAY

MacNider Wants to Present Views on Bonus to the President

House Members Discuss Situation With Harding on Rejection of Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Representative Mondell of Wyoming, republican house leader, and Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee are understood to have discussed the soldiers' bonus situation with President Harding today at the White House. They were said to have informed him of the rejection of the special sub-committee of the sales tax proposals made in his letter last week to Representative Fordney.

Before seeing the president, Mr. Fordney conferred with Harford MacNider, national commander, and John Thomas Taylor, legislative agent of the American Legion. Mr. MacNider and Mr. Taylor called at the White House to see the president but were informed that his engagement list for the forenoon was filled. They said they would return later in the day.

Mr. MacNider said the Legion was opposed to any further delay and indicated that it was his desire to present his views to the president. He reiterated that the Legion would not be drawn into any discussion of ways and means for raising the necessary bonus, indicating that it was interested only in the speedy passage of the legislation.

On leaving the White House both Mr. Mondell and Mr. Fordney said the house would pass a bonus bill at this session. Mr. Mondell stated that he could not say whether a measure without means of raising the revenue could be put through the senate.

Asked as to ways of financing the adjusted compensation, the republican house leader referred again to expected savings in the next fiscal year, but he would not give an estimate as to what this amount would be. He indicated that the question of the refunded foreign debt as a means of financing the bonus had been brought up at the White House conference, but declined to say what views the president had expressed.

Morse's Three Sons and Seven Others Named by Government

Said to Have Secured Money and Used it for Personal Interests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Indictments against Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder, his three sons, Benjamin, Harry and Edwin; Colin H. Livingstone of Washington, president of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation, and seven others were returned today by the federal grand jury which has been investigating the war-time transactions of Morse and some of his associates with the shipping board.

Others named in the indictments as presented to the district of Columbia supreme court included H. O. White of New York, former president of the United States Transport Co.; George M. Burdette, of New York; R. M. Much of Augusta, Me.; W. W. Scott, Washington attorney; L. A. Christie, Alexandria, Va.; Nicholas Campbell, New York and Philip H. Hinchey, Baltimore, former government auditor at the Virginia shipbuilding plant. Two indictments were returned, one charging conspiracy to defraud the government and the other charging conspiracy to commit offenses against the government.

The conspiracy as charged by the government accuses those named of making false statements as to the value of their plant and assets and thereby obtaining loans from the shipping board. They are also charged with having secured money for shipbuilding purposes and to have used the same for personal interests in the way of improving the plants. It is also alleged that large quantities of material for shipbuilding belonging to the Emergency Fleet Corporation were secured and then sold and the money converted to the use of the alleged conspirators.

Those indicted either were or still are connected with the Groton Iron Works, Groton, Conn., the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation, Alexandria, Va., or the United States Transport Co., Inc., which concerns are known as the Morse companies.

Morse in a statement issued through his attorney after the indictments had been returned, declared the proceedings against him were the result of "animus on the part of Attorney General Daugherty."

MRS. ROGERS DIED TODAY

Mother of Congressman Rogers Passed Away Early This Morning

Mrs. Mary Howard Carney Rogers, widow of Jacob Rogers and mother of the Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Massachusetts congressman, died early today at the family home, 285 Andover street. Her illness has been lingering, but it was only a few days ago that the congressman was called home from Washington, when her condition seemed to take a serious turn. Her age was 82 years. For years the name of Mrs. Jacob Rogers has been identified with practically every charitable cause instituted in this city and in many other unostentatious ways her life has been devoted to service to others. Mrs. Rogers was born in Lowell, the daughter of James G. Carney, on September 16, 1839. In 1868 she married Jacob Rogers, and from this union there were three children, who now survive her, Mrs. Frank E. Dunbar, Mrs. Frederick A. Plather, and John Jacob Rogers. She also is survived by three grandchildren, Mary Drucilla Plather, John Rogers Plather, and Frederick Plather, all of Lowell. First separate school for colored children in Massachusetts was established in 1793.

BIG MOONSHINE STILL SETS FIRE TO HOUSE IN BENNETT COURT

Raiding Officers Find 100-Gallon Still in Flames---Man Found on Premises is Arrested---Eight Barrels of Mash and 20 Gallons of Moonshine Confiscated

When the local and federal liquor officers raided a house in Bennett court, off Marion street, shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon, they found a 100-gallon still in a small room on the top floor of the house in flames and only quick work on their part saved the building. The room was badly burned, but the still itself was damaged only slightly. Arthur Vlahos, who was found on the premises at the time, later was arrested by Sergt. Michael Winn.

In addition to the still there were found and seized eight barrels of mash and about 20 gallons of moonshine.

MAYOR'S BUDGET FIGURES READY FOR CITY COUNCIL

Budget in Total Is $29,300 Less Than Recommendations of Budget and Audit Commission---$47,000 Cut From Interest Charges and $10,600 From Fire and Police Wage Schedules---Street Department Figures Increased

In preparation of his 1922 budget for presentation to the city council on Thursday night of this week, Mayor George H. Brown has increased the total figures in the department of street maintenance $39,062.15 over the recommendations of the budget and audit commission, thus allowing that department the $15,000 asked for the purchase of new equipment and providing for the year-round employment of all permanent men in the department. Reductions made elsewhere in the figures for other departments, however, cut the total budget $29,300 from the recommendations of the budget and audit commission, and give hope for a tax rate that will approximate $30 instead of the present rate of $31.40. The cut in total of $29,300 is balanced by the mayor's figures of revenue from street sprinkling and moth extermination. The budget and audit commission recommended $275,000 for street maintenance, plus $10,000 for special work, or a total of $285,000. The figures of Mayor Brown for this department are $321,062.15. "This will allow for the purchase of needed equipment," said the mayor, and will place the department on a permanent basis regarding the force of men. All men who have been in the department for more than three years will get duty work. The mayor also has increased the sewer maintenance appropriation figures by $3500 and has allowed $1800 for the purchase of new rifles for the high school regiment, feeling that the guns now being used are too heavy for the boys to shoulder. Aside from that one item, however, the school department appropriation stands as recommended by the budget commission, with a cut of more than $100,000 over the estimates presented. The mayor has sliced interest charges by $17,072, although he said today that perhaps he had cut too deep deeply here and has taken $5000 from the police department wage schedule and $5566.15 from the fire department schedule.

Allen Plea Must Be Heard By Court

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Superior court Judge Fessenden ruled today that the plea in abatement filed by Attorney General J. Weston Allen as an amended answer to an indictment charging him with larceny of $150 from a client several years ago must be heard by the court rather than by a jury. The plea involved mixed questions of law and of fact, the judge explained. It alleged that the grand jury had been coerced by former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, in returning the indictment against Allen. A jury trial was asked by prosecuting counsel.

Important Ruling on Railroad Rates

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Railroad passenger fares within a state are subject to regulation by the federal government, the supreme court today declared. The court sustained the lower courts which prohibited the Wisconsin railroad commission from interfering with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in putting into effect increases in passenger fares in state travel authorized by the interstate commerce commission.

FIRE THREATENS ST. PAUL'S CHURCH IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Dense smoke pouring from the basement of Trinity church vestry house at Church and Fulton streets, directly behind historic St. Paul's chapel, where George Washington used to attend divine service, brought apparatus to the scene in a hurry today and the blaze was confined to the basement, where it had started. Smoke, sweeping up through the buildings, gave ground for the fear that the whole structure was threatened. The damage was slight. Five aged clergymen, dead in the graveyard which separates the chapel and vestryhouse, Mrs. Effie Armstrong, superintendent of the house, carried her 72-year-old mother four stories to the street.

League of Catholic Women Hear Interesting Address by Hon. James B. Casey

"How Government Functions" was the subject of an address before the members of the League of Catholic Women and their friends, by Hon. James B. Casey, at a meeting held in the city hall under the auspices of the league, which was presided over by Miss Mary E. Lane, chairman of the committee.

The ex-mayor succeeded in interesting his audience thoroughly, explaining in detail the various parts of government, the manner in which they are conducted, and many of the duties and obligations of citizens, both men and women, in seeing that each part functions properly. He emphasized the fact that the emotions of women are as susceptible as those of men and that in the solution of public problems the real test of their efficiency is the amount of reasoning, thought and action they are willing to put into the exercise of their citizenship. Mr. Casey spoke in part as follows:

HON. JAMES B. CASEY

Hood's Sarsaparilla

THE LOWELL SUN MONDAY FEBRUARY 27 1922

In, and the truth of such an assertion is vividly impressed upon us in our own day and generation.

Our Government Builders

Truly the builders of our government possessed clear vision and admirable foresight. A government founded upon such a declaration of human rights must endure despite the ever changing dangers that beset it. The declaration that all men are created equal is, of course, intended in so far as political rights are concerned, and while in a free government such a declaration is not intended to be a guide in the application of laws, it is a guiding principle in the determination of the rights of the citizen.

It might be added also that the permanency of our government will depend upon the moral conscience of its people. Our decadence, as a nation sets in when the moral or religious basis of our people is weakened. The state is the medium for the social progress of the individual, for man in a social being after all, and dependent upon his fellow beings for sustenance and progress. The state need not concern itself with varying forms of religious belief of its citizens. It may, however, view with alarm an increasing absence of and disinclination on the part of citizens toward any form of Christian belief. Empty churches will mean in time a loss of interest and respect for established government. I am not a pessimist. I am a realist. I am a student of the stars. The Spangled Banner is a true patriot. There can be equal hypocrisy in respect to love of country as well as in respect to love of God, and generally it is the same individual who is lacking in respect for both.

Government Is Political

Government is political and will remain so. Affairs of government are everybody's business, or at least should be. The real trouble is, so few make it so. We are content to let the other fellow run the government for us, while we expect satisfactory results, but contribute little towards securing them. We call for government, but do not vote differently. The trouble with the average citizen is failure to take seriously civic responsibility. He or she thinks they are immune as individuals to the effects of maladministration of public affairs, and consequently may indulge in a carefree attitude toward public life. Free and easy responsibility in the exercise of civic duty is having a depressing effect upon American life and administration of public office.

The functions of American government, national and municipal, are to legislate within constitutional limits for the common good of all. It is naturally easy with the freedom existing under our form of government, and the latitude allowed individual expression of ideas and viewpoints of public matters, to have government and laws regulate and control public affairs. It is quite another thing to have these laws actually conceived, and capably administered. The average citizen would be in a state of despair with knowledge of the conditions imposed by Congress, state legislatures, local boards, and what not, to control and regulate personal conduct. The fact that a citizen is able to go through life and keep within the law is not through multi-millionaire wealth, but rather because of one's conception of human relations, justice and injustice, is guidance founded upon moral precept and obligation, and not civil impositions.

The great problem affecting American government today is largely to legislate within the limitations of the state, and by the word of the state, civil authority, begins and ends. The true function of the state is to protect mankind in the exercise of the inalienable rights endowed by God, or we may say human political rights. There is a certain political liberty against which the state may not legislate.

Too Many Meddlers

We are suffering today from too many meddlers and self-appointed apostles of legislation, ever seeking to regulate by force of law the personal conduct of others, while quite immune themselves to the effects of the laws they advocate. Paternal fanatics, active and aggressive for want of better and more useful occupation. There is but a small dividing line, if any, between Bolshevism and paternalistic legislation now pending in Congress. The fact that such legislation emanates in Washington instead of Petrograd does not make its Bolshevistic tendencies less potent.

National legislation today is dangerously interpreted the Declaration of Independence of the forefathers to be a declaration of dependence rather than independence. "The right of the state" to impose restrictive measures upon the individual is being pushed to a dangerous limit. Under the guise of a general welfare, legislation this old constitution of ours is being to be grossly interpreted as to cause the framers to turn in their graves.

Vice President Marshall views clearly the situation in these words:

"When Washington takes charge of the mother before the baby is born, stands sponsor for it when it makes its advent into the world, decrees its exercises and says when its most out-prescribes its studies and looks after the health during the school age, it will be high time to invite Lenin and Trotsky to tour America and offer criticism of our institutions."

And might add when Washington does all these things, we will have advanced brilliantly in the exercise of "state rights" as to decree the kind, form and practices of religious belief among our citizens. As you pass a school house on a pleasant morning in summer, you are thrilled as you hear youthful voices singing in unison, "America, the land of the free, and the home of the brave." Yes, indeed, "the home of the brave," but if much of the modernized ideas of legislation, get upon our statute books, "the land of the free" will be a less desirable place of habitation than originally intended by the forefathers, when they laid the foundations of democracy.

Women and the Ballot

You are told nowadays how much depends upon the women for a safe solution of public questions. Your intelligence, unselfishness and far-sightedness are expressed in laudatory terms of eloquence. You are hailed as the saviors of the nation, that if government must henceforth function in the straight and narrow path. That the slightest deviation from the strict line of moral and civic rectitude will be instantly punished by political oblivion for those who so grievously offend in public life. This is a serious thing. It may appeal to your vanity and it may not. Just let me give expression to this thought, however. The voting franchise in your possession is a power for good just in so far as you make it so. It is your duty to measure it to your civic responsibilities. If you permit your judgment to be waylaid by immaterial issues, if you carelessly

THE LOWELL SUN MONDAY FEBRUARY 27 1922

And impotently exercise your franchise, with little regard for the seriousness of its privileges, then you simply augment rather than diminish the evils that beset American politics.

To argue that you cannot be swayed by the same emotions, the same considerations, the same irritations, the same passions, is to argue that you are a machine, not a man. It is simply a question of how much sound, substantial reasoning, thought and action you are willing to put into the exercise of your citizenship that is the real test of your efficiency in the solution of public problems. It is true that much is expected of you in the determination of American affairs of state, and it is equally true that it is within your power to fulfill or disappoint such expectations. There is no different standard for you to follow in the exercise of your citizenship than has always prevailed. How well you measure up to your responsibilities determines how worthy you are to have conferred upon you the privilege of citizenship. It is individual responsibility with you the same as with every citizen that can be measured by the ability and conscientious endeavor of those chosen to public office. In the last analysis a community receives no better or worse administration of public affairs than it bargains for at the polls election day.

Some one who believes that the government of American cities is a deplorable failure. While the standard of efficiency may be improved, it is tolerably decent and capable, especially when it is considered the indifference and varying viewpoint of the average citizen in the selection of public officials. Our management of candidates for public office is too often warped by considerations of personal environment, social distinction and irrelevant reasons, rather than an impartial estimate of capable discharge of public duty.

Merits of Candidates

The last week before an election is a poor time to judge the respective merits of candidates for public office. It is at least a poor time to believe everything you hear or read. The House and Liberty many citizens take with the character and reputation of aspirants for public office is a depressing feature of American politics. Hesitant to accept the candidacy of one who "deth protest too much" his own virtues, and the average citizen is always refreshingly, and grave injustice may be done his opponent. Fall to respond to the candidacy of one who may lay claim to your support on the ground of some religious belief. There should be something more substantial than such claims. The average citizen's exercise of the voting franchise is a serious responsibility. Unfortunately, often issues, rather than real issues, often guide our selection. To render unselfish public service is a praiseworthy ambition, even though you run the risk of having your motives distorted and abused. The viewpoint of politics is no place for a nervous, fretful person. Your own sound judgment of respective merits of candidates is a safer guide than the pyrotechnics of street corner oratory.

LABOR UNIONS FIGHTING AGAINST INJUNCTION

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Claiming that if the courts uphold the injunction, labor union membership "becomes" can be construed as conspiracy," union leaders are today fighting the plan of the A. T. Reed Co. leather goods manufacturers that a temporary restraining order be made permanent. The case up for hearing before Supreme Court Justice Callaghan, is directed against "finney leather goods" and "finney leather goods."

The company last August after withdrawing from an association which had made an agreement with the defendant union, is alleged to have been reorganizing the company. It is this injunction the Reed Co. now seeks to have made permanent.

Labor representatives seek to have removed from record the fact of the union labor union bodies contained in the temporary injunction order.

MADE BIG RAID IN ROCKDALE AVENUE

Federal Officers Bowlers, Lieut. Palmer and Officers Cowette, Dwyer and Noye conducted a successful raid at 3 Rockdale avenue shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, securing a still of extra large capacity, 10 gallons of "shine," 7 jugs, and 12 bottles. The officers say that it is the most up to date still yet captured, equipped with a double condenser and an enormous coil, with coloring and other accessories to make the home-made booze look like the genuine, old-time article.

The occupant of the premises is alleged to be Fred J. Lescard, who, according to the officers, was to be arrested later in the day. It is said that his wife has sworn out a complaint against him for assault and battery, and the warrant was to be served immediately.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. He says that by giving to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, they will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the acids and poisons that matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pinched, coated tongue, headache, constipation, no good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasant results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful remedy for constipation—and then just to keep them fit, 15c and 30c. —Adv.

SALVATION ARMY BARS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE THE FRYING-PAN MOVES TOMORROW

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The Salvation Army will distribute no more frying-pans in Chicago. For many years the frying-pan has been the culinary stand-by of the poor family. It will be so no more—not if the army can prevent it. Brigadier Amie Cowden, territorial director for all the organization's work among women and children, has discovered that 35 per cent of Chicago's children are undernourished. She took up the matter with Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen, national home economics expert, and the death warrant of the frying-pan was the result. According to Mrs. Allen, 50 per cent of all illness can be traced to improperly prepared food, and 10 per cent of all inefficiency is credited to the same cause.

Brigadier Cowden, after months of investigation, agrees with Mrs. Allen that one of the principal causes of malnutrition is the well known frying-pan. Mrs. Allen stated that it isn't so much poor quality in food as poor preparation of food which is responsible for the under-nourishment of children. Denatured breakfast foods, careless cooking and above all, the insidious frying-pan are the root of the evil, she contends.

Brigadier Cowden said the Salvation Army through hundreds of slum homes and settlement houses in every part of the world is trying to educate slum mothers in the healthful preparation of foods, that as the 35 per cent of under-nourished children in Chicago were found equally in the homes of the poor, the well-to-do, and even the wealthy, great benefits would follow more intelligent cooking.

OVER MILLION DOLLARS IN UNPAID TAXES

On Saturday last, February 25, there remained on the city's books a balance of unpaid taxes, covering the years 1915, 1916, 1919, 1920 and 1921 of $1,102,947.77. This is a reduction from the figures of January 1, of $245,359.18.

Unpaid taxes by years, as of February 25, are as follows:

1915	$ 533.52
1916	8,687.64
1919	15,925.90
1920	252,415.97
1921	794,433.65
Total	$1,102,046.77

Since January 1 none of the 1919 taxes has been paid, the amount received coming from the taxes of 1920 and 1921. The 1920 taxes still unpaid, totaling $252,415.97, represent a reduction of $355,534.20 from one year ago.

Street sprinkling assessments still unpaid as of January 1, total $11,623.68, of which $6.53 is for 1915; $3220.50, for 1920 and $8368.60 for 1921. Month assessments outstanding amount to $1335.75, with $431.15 from 1920 and $1102.60 from 1921.

Billings Anderson, a young man employed at the Waterhead mills in Lawrence street and residing at 28 Meadowcroft street, had his left arm completely torn from its socket while at his work this morning and as a result he is now in a serious condition at St. John's hospital.

Details concerning the accident could not be learned, for at the mill office it was stated that no official report had as yet been made. It is said, however, that the young man got caught between a pulley and a belt.

Between 400 and 500 persons weekly last year crossed the British channel by airplane.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MOVES TOMORROW

The Lowell chamber of commerce will move its headquarters tomorrow from the present location in the Grosvenor block to the third floor of the Fairburn building, Rooms 302-308. Chamber officials anticipate the change with a great deal of satisfaction inasmuch as the new quarters afford greater space and much more natural light. They are on the Bridge street side of the building.

The Lowell Ad club will meet in the old quarters in Merrimack Square Wednesday noon for luncheon and will have as a speaker, Norman B. Cawley, professor of public speaking at Harvard college, who will talk on "Advertising."

AMERICAN BANKING HEAD OPPOSES AID

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 27.—Thomas B. McAdams, president of the American Bankers' association in a message addressed to the bankers of the country made public today, opposed the bill to provide adjusted compensation for former service men as a measure which would add materially to the burdens of the American people, who, he said, already were overtaxed to pay for the war.

"The burden of providing war insurance," Mr. McAdams said, "was willingly assumed by the American people, under the belief that it would take the place of pension demands and other forms of compensation for able-bodied veterans. How far the proposed legislation violates the spirit of this understanding is for the American people to decide."

AMERICAN-IRISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

At a meeting of the American Irish Historical society of Lowell, held in Memorial hall yesterday afternoon, Dr. Michael A. Tighe, the president, gave a comprehensive address on the work that is planned for the society, including the recording of data relative to the accomplishment of the Irish pioneers in this city, and the reading of papers upon the subject at the society's meetings. He spoke of the organization's good fortune in having as secretary a man with wide experience in all matters of cataloging and the work planned by the society.

A progressive report from the banquet committee in regard to the affair to be held on March 16 in Lincoln hall was submitted by Chairman James O'Sullivan, who stated that 65 per cent of the tickets for the banquet have been distributed to date, and great interest has developed. He requested that ticket holders would make their returns on Sunday, March 12.

Secretary George F. O'Dwyer read an interesting paper on the old Middlesex canal. Rev. Francis J. Mullin spoke interestingly in regard to the society's possibilities.

Twenty new members were admitted to the society and the annual fee was established at $3. The society will hold its next meeting in Memorial hall next Sunday, and the executive committee will hold a meeting tomorrow.

Two weeks hence Mr. Joseph E. Carroll will read a paper before the society, the subject of which will be "Hugh Connolly, Pioneer Irish Business Man."

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The poor condition of the streets in the city was the topic of discussion at a regular meeting of the Ward 8, Precinct 3 Improvement association, which was held yesterday afternoon in the quarters at the Manning club. Routine business was transacted and it was announced that a special meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

JOSEPH DRAKE

"When I say that I weigh twenty-five pounds more than I did a short time ago it speaks volumes for the merit of 'Tanale,'" said Jos. B. Drake, 435 Belmont ave., Springfield, Mass.

"The first thing Tanale did for me was to give me an appetite and take my stomach. It wasn't long before I was eating things I hadn't dared touch for years and anyone to see the hearty way I eat now would find it hard to believe that a few weeks ago I was dyspeptic and living on the lightest kind of diet."

"Another good thing Tanale did for me was to drive the rheumatism almost entirely out of my system. In fact, I can truthfully say it has made me feel like a new man I never was. It certainly is a 'grand medicine'."

Tanale is sold at Green's Drug Store and all other reliable druggists.—Adv.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even dandruff, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthol Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ-destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and soon does not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Menthol Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Adv.

LABOR LEADER SAYS BAY STATE PLANT WILL CLOSE THURSDAY

Peaceful Methods of 1800 Pickets Will Cause Closing—Thomas F. McMahon, President of United Textile Workers of America, Addresses Enthusiastic Meeting in Crescent Rink—Rev. Mr. Lyon and Rev. Mr. Meister Also Speak—Workers Are Ready and Willing to Arbitrate

Declaring that the Bay State mill would be closed by Thursday morning as the result of the peaceful efforts of 1800 pickets, who would surround the mill, John Hanley, president of the local council of the United Textile Workers of America and a member of the executive board, brought stormy applause from 500 or more strikers, sympathizers and their friends who gathered yesterday afternoon in an open meeting held by the national body in the Crescent rink. Of secondary importance to local people was an announcement by Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, that the organization of which he was the head would, at any time, abide by the decision of an arbitration board, providing all hearings were held in public, absolutely free from "star-chamber sessions." He also declared that the organization would treat with any matter dealing with material subjects, but not with the 48 hour working law.

He further declared that the action taken by the Hamilton mill was the result of a lottery in which all the big manufacturers got together and drew one mill to use as a test case. The above was contained in his address to the meeting.

McMahon was extremely conservative in his talk, brought out his points in a forceful manner and on the whole proved to be a most interesting speaker. At no time could any of his remarks be construed to incite ill feeling on the part of the strikers, but on the contrary he urged peaceful, hard work for them to accomplish their ends. He said in part:

"I assure you all that it is a great privilege and pleasure to come to Lowell to try to do my part in bringing you news from the different parts of the country concerning what we are doing. I can understand the feelings of the people employed in the Hamilton and other mills. This gathering today recalls to my mind the days when I was in Lowell, as an organizer. I remember when we used to gather about the table with the Manufacturers' association to discuss matters of vital interest. We generally arrived at satisfactory conclusions."

"I was amazed at the notice I read in a newspaper to the effect that a 20 per cent wage cut had been posted here. I thought long and seriously of the cause and arrived at a conclusion that I will present to you. I have never before uttered what I am about to say to you. I have held it in abeyance. I will let you judge things for yourselves. I can picture the manufacturers who control the mills here gathered around a big table. One poor one I can see blindfolded as in a lottery picking out the mill to be used as a test case. The Hamilton mill was the one selected to carry the burden and the bridge. It not only carries the issue in Lowell but that of all mills in New England."

Here the speaker told of the master mind that controlled the affairs in Rhode Island and went into detail regarding the strike and the general situation there.

He continued: "Some of our Rhode Island friends have started something they wish they hadn't. The 48 hour week cannot and will not be arbitrated. Down there the mill spinners are fighting shoulder to shoulder with us. We have concentrated our entire forces to fight men who would send people back to the mills with envelopes not sufficient to live upon. We will not sanction star-chamber sessions but will be willing to bring our case before a board of arbitration that will hold all meetings in public which are publicly advertised. We will abide by these decisions."

Saw State Man

"I saw the body of that poor Portuguese who was shot. I went into the morgue and saw it naked. All the bullet holes were in the back. I could not help but think of his poor wife and two children waiting for him 3000 miles away from whence he had been sent to this country, the greatest land in the whole world, to make his living. "Victory for us should be obtained by peaceful methods. They are best. Whenever you find a man trying to cause trouble among peaceful strikers you can generally put him down as being paid by the manufacturers. He is their tool."

THOMAS F. McMAHON

"Those of you who say that a 20 per cent cut in wages does not affect you, allow me to hold a danger signal. You must be fearful. You must watch Beacon Hill, for while you are asleep powers are working 24 hours a day to destroy the beneficent legislation. They are working against the 48 hour law. Be watchful, for the battle is not always to the strong, as was once said by Patrick Henry."

"Allow me to ask what is the wage of the average textile worker? We find that the average wage in Massachusetts is less than $15 per week. Take 20 per cent off of that and you have an average of about $12. We are not quite back to normalcy for there is another war brewing."

"Before the war the dollar had 60 per cent more purchasing power than it has today. For instance, rubbers that we bought for $50, a pair are now only $1.55. Do I blame the employer for it? No! One thousand times no! The unorganized worker is in a great measure to blame. I want you to understand that the manufacturer organized labor got, and who does not pay for it? A parasite and the real cause of the 20 per cent reduction. When the next reduction of 20 per cent comes in June they will begin to see things more clearly."

My education, the manufacturers able to pay what we ask? We are ready to prove our statements in a public meeting. We also can prove that we are entitled to the 22 1/2 per cent cut they stole from us a year ago. I did not have a college education. My education was obtained in the school of hard knocks. There is not a pound of cotton used today but what I can tell the price of the finished product and this applies to wool and silks."

Take Highest Price

"When the manufacturers figure on what we shall be paid they always take the highest price of goods and use it as a scale to fix our wages. In reality I know the goods are graduated so that nearly 75 per cent of the raw materials cost much less than our wages are based on. We should be figured on 17 cents a pound and not on 25 cents to all of you who go back at less than this figure you are being robbed."

"Mr. chairman, reverend gentlemen, men and women of Lowell: If there is not an industry in Lowell capable of paying a living wage then say it should be shipped south or to Patagonia. Are we going to allow this 20 per cent cut to go by default? In Rhode Island we are going to keep up the fight. All the hungry will be taken care of by next week."

"I notice that not one cent has been contributed from the other mills to the support of the Hamilton and Bay State workmen. You must dig. During the war they told us to dig, and to dig until it hurt. Well, this is our war and we must dig. If the wives of strikers make a yell about picketing my advice to the husbands is that they buy sticking plaster and use it freely. If the husband has cold feet my advice to the wife is that she get a brick, wrap around it some nice wool and after putting it in the oven adjust it to her husband's feet at night before she goes to bed. If her feet are still cold in the morning she should carefully unwrap the cloth and operate on his bean with the brick."

"This fight will be won, it must be won for the little ones, for education, for the home and the drink. We must have a saving wage and not a living wage. When we are old we must have something put aside or else we will have to have our children take care of us, those of us who have them."

"The only reason the textile workers are on the bottom of the ladder is because we are too closely related to the nickel in our pockets. All the blame should not be put upon the employer. 'Tis true they posted this cut in the dead of winter, with the snow all about us and at a wrong time for such an action. But we are fighting for a great principle, the labor of our two hands. We must be able to go into a mill and say that this and this alone is what we will accept. 'Fear not while out upon picket duty. Keep heads up, eyes to the front, shoulders squared. Fight on to the finish to make this a better city and a better state. Always be in the vanguard. Do your best, so that when you face your Maker you will be able to say 'O God, I have done my best.'"

Rev. Mr. Lyons spoke in part: "This is an injustice towards labor to call for a 20 per cent reduction at this time when fuel, clothes, food and education are sorely needed. The time is just unjust. They have said, 'let us take one-fifth of your wages from your pockets and put them into ours."

This is not living according to the golden rule. It is not the big brother idea. Again I say the amount is unjust. There was a time when men had slaves that they could dictate to, but that time has passed. The amount cut is unjust because it leaves so little after actual living expenses are met to care for other things so necessary to life."

Point to Laborer

"The purchasing power of Europe is low at the present time. Who is to bear the brunt of present day losses? These great corporations in the Merrimack Valley have said that it must be the laborer. They say we can't run our factories without dividends. Some factories are doing it. I might cite the case of one who decided not to take dividends, but to keep the people at work."

"I recently met a moulder on a street car. I know him and asked what he was getting. He told me $5 a day for five days' work. He said that when Carnegie was in power he was getting only $1.25 per day. The steel king got the rest and that is why Carnegie left so much money at his death. We cannot carry on if wages are reduced. As wealth increases wages should increase. Who is to have the increased amount of money? A condition will exist which will bring a few plutocrats at one end and a mass of poor people at the other. Look at Europe. There is a great middle class of people here who must be considered."

He then read facts from a book of data in which he showed how one woman and her four children had to get along. He placed her total income as $552.20 for a whole year. Taking out $312 for rent and reducing the remainder with the 20 per cent cut he claimed that there would not be enough left for her to get along on."

"I do not care what agent comes here and says so, she cannot get along. A cut means degrading poverty and we cannot and will not stand for it. As a result of the last war, and it was a rich man's war—all wars are rich men's wars—all we hear is the big wages the laborers received. We will admit that some did get exorbitant wages, but they are only a drop in the bucket considering what some corporations got out of it. The workers should bear the burden. Should they bear it all? Again I say this cut is unjust."

Mr. Meister speaks

Rev. Mr. Meister was introduced by

Mr. Hanley, who said that the reverend gentleman did not care to speak at length because he had come from a sick bed to attend the meeting. Mr. Meister said in part: "I suppose you all believe you are sitting in the presence of an I.W.W. A certain newspaper reporter sitting here knows my sentiments. In a second article appearing in a local newspaper I was grossly misquoted."

"I believe every man in business should have a fair return on his capital. I also believe labor should get a fair return. It may be labor has secured exorbitant wages. I hope you have and hope you will always get them. On the other hand, I don't believe in exploitation, either. The 20 per cent wage reduction is unjustifiable. I have some of my best friends among the manufacturers and I would gladly die for them if I thought they were in the right. I am a minister of the gospel and believe in it. Not one minister called me up during the past week with the exception of Mr. Lyon. "Jesus was not held back because in him there was a principle of life. The way to settle a dispute is to get around the conference table with facts and figures. I sit with open mind. I want the truth and nothing but the truth. I stand for the golden rule. I denounce I.W.W.ism because it means terror. I do not stand for it, but I stand for the right to live."

Both Mr. Hanley and Mr. Anderson made short addresses but both agreed to leave the speaking to the others. President Hanley asked for a vote of thanks for Sullivan brothers who gave the use of the hall gratis. He also called for those to rise who would go on the picket line today. A great number responded.

Strike Situation Unchanged With Committees Working on Proposals

Manufacturers Decide Against Attempt to Reopen Today Pending Conference

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 27.—With strike committees and manufacturers' associations considering acceptance or rejection of the state mediation board's proposal for settlement, the strike situation in the cotton mills of this state was without change today.

Word had gone out a day or two ago that mill owners of the Pawtucket valley intended reopening their plants today under the protection of the military force. As a result, this picket line appeared at several places. But the men and women strikers patrolled in a heavy snow storm which showed no change from the inactivity of the past month or more. Because of the understanding that both sides would make their position on the proposed arbitration clear by tomorrow, the mill managements were said to have decided not to force the issue by an attempt at reopening today.

Textile mills with several plants operating in part, was as quiet as the Pawtucket valley mill towns to the south. Pickets appeared in the snow there also but outside the lines of the military forces.

The immediate proposal for settlement of the controversy is that mill owners and strikers put the issues of a 20 per cent wage reduction solely in the hands of Judge J. Jerome Hahn, chairman of the special mediation board, allow him to set a temporary scale of wages under the understanding that he will resume work and accept, without retroactive effect, whatever award he may hand down.

This proposal, made by the mediation board of five members last Saturday was taken up today by the strike committee of the Amalgamated Textile Workers in which a majority of the organized workers of the Pawtucket valley towns are enrolled, and by officials of the United Textile Workers which controls the strike situation in Pawtucket and the other Blackstone valley centers.

Although without making known their plans, were understood to have called a meeting for this afternoon to take the proposal up formally. It was stipulated that the answers of all be made to the board by 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Strike Breakers Leave Lowell

morning reported a disturbance on Middlesex street in the vicinity of the corner where a boarding house is located. Three imported strike-breakers were rather roughly handled by an excited crowd, but there was no bloodshed.

Big Meeting Today

This morning's meeting and roll call in Loom Fitters' hall was the largest of the present strike. Secretary John Hanley of the Loom Fitters, who is also president of the textile council, presided at the morning meeting, which lasted more than two hours. At noon, most of the members remained for a smoke talk, and another meeting was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with speakers from numerous union organizations in Lowell.

Mr. Hanley, as secretary of the meeting, said in part:

"We are going to win a victory. Don't be alarmed by this little wait. We are prepared for a long fight, but I don't think we are going to have one. The people of Lowell are with us. They don't propose to have citizens of this city treated as we have been treated."

"We are getting stronger every day. There is no indication that the Hamilton mills are to open right away, but when they do, we shall be ready for them if they propose to keep to that big wage cut announced the other day."

"At the Hay State, reports show that little work is being done in the important departments of the mill. Our pickets are doing fine work. More than 60 were at the Hay State mill gates this morning, and 150 will be on hand tonight."

Strike-Breakers Quit

"Imported strike-breakers are already leaving the Hay State company. We know who they are and where they are stopping. The job before us is not a hard one, and we are going along just as we expected. This is no time to take back wages from anybody, and we are not going to make any compromise on this wage question—remember that, men. We are going to have what belongs to us. It is a just contest on our part, and we are gaining friends every day. Keep up the good work, get out and hand out leaflets to all our members, and we will win without any trouble at all."

Mr. Hanley's address was made at the morning roll call. Later, members of the Loom Fitters' local held a special meeting, other union local members leaving the Park hotel building to attend the Hay State mill gates this morning, and 150 will be on hand tonight.

There are said to be under way for more picketing, and interesting news from International headquarters is expected soon, with additional plans to have a series of mass meetings and another visit from International President McMahon before the week-end.

The Day Reports

Reports from the day committee indicate a collection of something over $1700, with returns still coming in. There is a possibility that it may reach $1800, although the present count has not reached that figure. The strikers are delighted with the Saturday collections and the splendid cooperation received from any Lowell citizens. More than 100 young ladies have been given a special treat, and all funds were turned over to Mrs. Anita Horgan, financial secretary and treasurer of the Trades and Labor council. The money is to be deposited in a local bank and not be drawn upon until all cases of actual distress among mill workers and their families are carefully investigated. In fact, the money is to be used for the relief of the needy, and the strikers will be able to report to the general strike committee and the latter will decide upon action and disbursement of all funds. A number of cases of distress are already known to the leaders of the strike, and will be attended to first.

Six women thrown out of employment by the closing of the Hamilton mill, called at the textile headquarters this morning to confer with President Hanley of the textile council and President Dana B. Hart of the Blackstone Textile local. There are 10 slasher tenders on strike at the Hamilton mill according to the president.

"I can tell you of suffering already because of the low wages our men have been receiving," said one of the women. "They were also asked to leave their homes, and we have families of five and six children and live in tenement houses that are not fit for human habitation," said President Hart to a Sun man this morning. "I can show you terrible conditions that should be relieved. Of course, we are helping where we can, but we can't attend to all the cases reported to us."

The Ring Spinners' local held roll call this morning in the Park hotel at 9 o'clock, many members being present and reporting. They were also addressed by President Hanley of the textile council. The Loom Fitters' local is now known as "150 per cent." In every respect, and the record of this organization in the local for all other kinds. The meetings are largely attended, and members are doing an excellent job of employment and remaining loyal to the local organization and the strike campaign, according to the officers of the local assembly in the Park hotel building this morning.

MANY TELEPHONE OPERATORS SICK

Blackstone has made serious inroads upon the operating force at the local telephone exchange and at the present time approximately 10 per cent of the operators are out.

Manager Charles J. Leathers said today that conditions are a little better than they were, but it is still a serious problem to handle the great mass of business with a reduced force.

"If service seems to be slow," said Mr. Leathers, "it is because we are seriously handicapped. We are making every effort to handle calls with the usual speed and I hope the public will bear with us during the emergency."

PAID-UP DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Paid-up at coal mines during January declined about 25 per cent, from January a year ago, according to an announcement today by the bureau of mines. The total last month was 146 against 197 last year, based on an estimated coal production of 43,555,000 tons last month, the death rate was 2.32 per million tons mined, compared with 4.11 for January, 1921.

BIDS OPENED BY PURCHASING AGENT

The city purchasing agent today received and opened the following bids on requisitions to supply 100 tons of 6-inch and 75 tons of 8-inch pipe to the water department:

R. D. Wood & Co., Philadelphia, $44.70 per ton, plus $2 per ton for markings; Warren Foundry & Machine Co., Boston, $15.70 per ton; U. S. Cast Iron Co., Philadelphia, $15.80; E. E. Durnham, Lawrence, $15.20; Donaldson Iron Co., Kansas, $15.45. The Durnham Co.'s bid was thrown out inasmuch as it was not accompanied by a certified check.

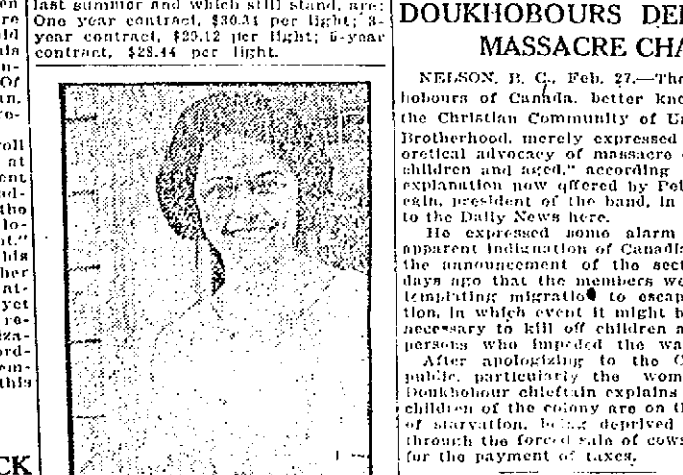

Until the purchasing agent has an opportunity to discuss the bids with representatives of the water department, the contract will not be let.

DISCUSS CITY'S GAS LIGHTING CONTRACT

Mayor George F. Brown was in conference this forenoon with C. R. Pritchard, general manager of the Lowell Gas Light Co., relative to a renewal of the city's gas lighting contract, but no decision was reached.

The mayor announced that he is endeavoring to obtain a reduction in the figures presented to former Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy after the contract had expired last July and that he would have other conferences with Mr. Pritchard on the matter in the near future.

The figure presented by the Gas Co. last summer and which still stand, are: One year contract, $30.31 per light; 3-year contract, $25.12 per light; 5-year contract, $23.44 per light.

DOUKHOBOURS DENY MASSACRE CHARGE

NEILSON, B. C., Feb. 27.—The Doukhobours of Canada, better known as the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, merely expressed a "theoretical" advocacy of massacre of their children and aged, according to the explanation now offered by Peter Vorokhin, president of the band, in a letter to the Daily News here.

He expressed some alarm at the announcement of the act some days ago that the members were contemplating migration to escape taxation, in which event it might be found necessary to kill off children and aged persons who impeded the wanderers.

After alluding to the Canadian public, particularly the women, the Doukhobour chief explains that the children of the colony are on the verge of starvation, being deprived of milk through the forced sale of cows in 1920 for the payment of taxes.

Organized Labor Well Represented at the State House Hearing

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Representatives of organized labor, from every section of the commonwealth, stormed the state house today for the purpose of impressing upon the legislature the earnest opposition of the labor movement to legislation which would establish in this state a court of industrial relations, such as now exists in Kansas.

This morning the committee began its hearings on a measure which is very similar to the Kansas law, and its regular meeting room was jammed to overflowing with those who, largely by instruction of their local unions, had come to Boston to oppose the bill.

The measure provides for a court of three justices, each of whom is to be paid a salary of $10,000 a year. They are to be appointed by the governor, for three-year terms.

The court thus created, the bill provides, shall have control over certain industries which are to be essential to the public welfare, including the manufacture, preparation or handling of food; the manufacture of wearing apparel; the mining or production of any mineral in common use for fuel or for transportation purposes; the manufacture or production of any of the materials; transport of any of the above; and all public utilities.

Start Fighting in So. Africa Mine Strike

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The first fighting in connection with the mining strike in the Rand district occurred early today, when a body of police charged two parties of strikers at Boksburg, using their clubs to quell disorder. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting ensued in which many casualties were suffered on both sides.

Come on Four Winds for Celebration

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Descendants of Pinus Friedman, who lived in Poland in 1790, left New York today for their respective homes after gathering there for their annual dinner. Some of them must travel half way around the world before arriving at their destination. The Friedmans, 225 of them, had to hire a big hall for the festivities.

Here's Cheer for That Empty Coal Bin

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Amateur weather prophets of New York and New Jersey were out today with claims of an early spring, reporting it on the authority of what they considered infallible "signs." In New York the barometers appeared in the zoo in the persons of the prairie dogs, who took the air all day yesterday. The Jerseyites based their prediction on the fact that the side hill gopher is preening himself, with particular attention to the fur on his haunches.

Blood Transfusion Saves Life of Girl

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Physicians at the Massachusetts General hospital today said that a blood transfusion probably had saved the life of Mary Elizabeth Bruce, 17 years old, accidentally shot last night while sitting at the piano in her Everett home by her father, Lieut. James Bruce, of the Everett police department. Robert Bruce, an uncle, submitted to the transfusion. Lieut. Bruce was exhibiting the weapon, which had been in the attic for 18 years, when it was discharged.

Operettas for Benefit of St. Joseph's Branch of St. Vincent de Paul Society

Standing—Miss Hermine Forest, Miss Arthemise Hotin, Miss Caroline Desaulniers, Miss Jeanette Chevalier, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Mrs. B. Beauchesne, Miss Claire Dubois. Sitting—Miss Blanche Larue, Miss Juliette Vincent, Miss Marguerite Turgeon, Miss Fleur Augé Brousseau, Miss Cecile Morin, Miss Clare Richard.

"La Royal Dindon" and "La Répétition d'Athalie" two very enjoyable musical comedies, were presented at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening, the former by a group of the best talent of the C.M.A.C. and the latter by a group of women of St. Joseph's branch, who on previous occasions have appeared to advantage on the local amateur stage. The affair was given under the auspices of the C.M.A.C. under the general direction of Rev. L. G. Baehand, O.M.I. and for the benefit of St. Joseph's branch of the St. Vincent de Paul society. The attendance at the afternoon performance filled the house, while in the evening standing room was at a premium. The affair was in the form of a battle of music and it was fortunate that no arrangements had been made for prizes, for the judges would have had a mighty difficult and tedious job to award the prizes. Both operettas were rendered in a very able manner and much credit is due the performers as well as the directors.

In the afternoon "La Royal Dindon" was given first and in the evening "La Répétition d'Athalie" was given. The stage setting, at both performances the audience showed its appreciation with frequent applause and at the close of the evening performance the organizers, Rev. Fr. Baehand, O.M.I. were warmly complimented for the success achieved.

"La Répétition d'Athalie" is a two-act operetta dating back to the early history of France. It unfolds an interesting story in which the queen, who appears as a peasant girl in one of her villages, is mistaken by her subjects as a member of the common set. She does not disclose her identity until long after she has been ridiculed and cast aside by another member of the nobility and her followers. The play contains numerous comic scenes as well as delightful musical numbers. The members of the cast at yesterday's performances are well known to the Lowell public as amateur performers and suffice it to say that all parts were well rendered.

Those who took part were Miss Blanche Larue, Juliette Vincent, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Miss Claire Dubois, Miss Fleur Augé Brousseau, Miss Cecile Morin, Miss Caroline Desaulniers, Miss Jeanette Chevalier, Miss Marguerite Turgeon, Miss Emily Gaudet, Miss Hermine Forest, Miss Claire Richard, Miss Arthemise Hotin, Mrs. B. Beauchesne. The play was under the personal direction of Miss Angeline Hotin and the accompanist was Miss Lucie Rheault.

The soloists were Misses Marguerite Turgeon, Fleur Augé Brousseau, Hermine Forest, Emily Gaudet and Cecile Morin and their singing was very pleasing. In the title roles Mrs. Smith and Miss Arthemise Hotin proved once more that they are clever amateurs. They were ably assisted by the other members of the cast. "La Royal Dindon," a one-act musical comedy by Luigi Bordese was introduced in a very satisfactory manner. This little sketch deals with Henri IV, who during the war, while travelling incognito, was recognized by one of his officers in a country town hotel, where numerous of his soldiers were enjoying themselves at the expense of the innkeeper. The king was impersonated by Wolfred P. Caluso, Jr., who has had considerable experience in this line before and his work was very creditable. Ernest J. Dupont, who is possessed of a delightful baritone voice, interpreted the role of the officer of the king in a very satisfactory manner. His singing was particularly pleasing. As the innkeeper George Labranche, another old-timer, again delighted his audience. Master Raymond Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Alexander of Moody street, as Captain, a 12-year-old boy, whose sole ambition is to become a soldier and later a general, demonstrated to the large audience that he can sing and act. His work was very commendable. E. J. Laroche sustained the comic role.

The operetta contains numerous solo quartets and choruses and all were well rendered. Those who took part in the choruses as soldiers of the king were Emily Berger, Adolphe B. Brassard, Dr. A. H. Brassard, Alfred Ducharme, Edmund P. Grogan, Arthur J. Grenier, Wilfred B. Lefebvre, Jean Lefebvre, Edouard Montreuil, Jules Morissette, Z. A. Normand, Arthur Perreault, George Perreault, A. Toussaint, Dr. G. B. Caluso, C. Mallo and Oiler J. David. The musical part of the comedy was given under the able direction of Telephore Malo, chorographer at St. Joseph's, while Ernest J. Dupont and W. P. Caluso, Jr., looked after the stage setting.

Between the acts "O Canada" and "The Star Spangled Banner" were sung by a mixed choir, and a pleasing vocal duet was given by Miss Blanche Larue and Mr. Fred Vennart. The orchestra was selected and given. The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of the following: J. A. N. Chretien, Adolphe Brassard, Miss Angeline Hotin, Miss Euc-

ta Marin, Albert Girard, Auguste Gullault, Theodore Letourneau, Miss Eva Crepeau and Rev. L. G. Baehand, O. M. I. The publicity committee was as follows: Armand Gellinas and Joseph A. Schiller. The reception committee was composed of the following: Arthur L. Bno, chairman; Albert J. Blazon, Harve D. Fauthenau, Arthur Pelletier, Norman Vigant, Hector McDonald, Adolphe Fortin, Victor N. Rochette, J. A. N. Chretien, Dewey C. Archambault, Arthur Turcotte, Arthur J. Bernier, Roderick D. Jodoin, Raymond Bourgeois, Emilie Lemire and Joseph A. Schiller. Those who took part in the performance will be entertained at a banquet in the assembly hall of the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street at 6:30 o'clock this evening. At the close of the dinner there will be an impromptu program of vocal selections and readings and a good time is in store for all who have helped in the worthy cause of the St. Vincent de Paul society.

Urge Government to Oust "Spooks"

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 27.—Extraordinary phenomena, which drove Alex MacDonald and his family from their home at Caledonia Mills have apparently led to widespread reports of "spooks" in Nova Scotia, and imaginative children are declared to have been seeing things in the dark. Angry parents are declaring that the Nova Scotia government should take immediate measures to dispose of the alleged "ghosts." Fire underwriters are discussing suggestions that the mysterious fires have been due to electric phenomena, caused by the powerful wireless stations at Glace Bay. Inquiries received here indicate a small army of American newspapermen is preparing to follow Dr. Walter Prince, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research who has accepted an invitation to undertake an investigation of the mystery.

Church Council Urges Treaties' Support

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The churches of the country, in a message today from the commission on international justice and good will of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, in America, were urged to give their active support to the treaties negotiated by the Washington conference as constituting, the "first steps towards a warless world."

Belief Slain Man Victim of Gang Row

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Westchester county authorities were today working on the theory that the unidentified man whose body, stabbed in eight places, was found on the motor road near Ellsford late yesterday was the victim of a bootleggers' row. This county has recently been flooded they say with illicit whiskey. Several persons who saw the body have failed to identify it. The victim was well dressed, and was apparently about 32 years of age. There were six knife wounds in the back, one in the neck and an eighth in the head. All marks of identification had been cut from the clothing. Money was found on his person, which, the police say, dispels the theory that robbery was the motive.

Urges Education for Illiterate Adults

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—More comprehensive public education for illiterate adults, was urged by Dr. Frank P. Graves, New York state commissioner of education before the department of superintendence, National Education Association. Dr. Graves asserted that out of 25 pupils of school age, only 10 complete the eight grades, and but two finish the high school. The proportion of illiterates and aliens among adults as estimated from statistics compiled during the war, Dr. Graves said, was "still more disturbing."

THE EDISON QUERY

Thomas A. Edison's recent query: "Why use gold?" has been answered by nearly every financial writer of note in the land. If Edison's query was designed to stir up credits or trade, it is doomed to failure, apparently. The Edison suggestion as to the possibility of world gold demonetization appears to be ill-timed anyhow. It is folly to renew the discussion as to what constitutes wealth. Production is the keynote of wealth and gold remains the final system by which that wealth is maintained or distributed.

This present "readjustment period," following the world war, is not without parallel or precedent. There was a similar readjustment epoch of from seven to ten years after the Civil war. In comparison with the period following 1865, the present world readjustment of barely 35 months from November, 1918, is really trifling in many respects.

There is a terrible weakness in any monetary plan that seeks to displace gold. The German finance methods are but a burlesque counterfeit. In the end the gold standard will rule Europe once more. At the same time, it must be admitted that Germany running astray on banknotes of no real value, that have the strength of street car transfers, is something more than amusing.

Edison, perhaps, is right when he compares Germany working furiously on shift-plaster money while the United States has from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 men idle on a gold basis. But when the expansion of the German mark reaches the final extreme—a point where possibly a billion marks are in circulation—industry in Germany will come to a halt for some time. And this shock will undoubtedly affect all world stock exchanges and mercantile values for a time, but it will not affect the final morale of Germany. The Teuton evidently plans to continue his task of reducing the world from laziness and the prosperity jag into severe hard competitive work.

Financiers—and possibly Edison, too—are now simply waiting for the big German blow-up. When will it come? No man knows, but all agree that it must come, and after it comes, perhaps real prosperity will tag along figuratively on the heels of the explosion.

STIFLING AMERICAN TRADE

Trade review journals in close touch with business affairs of most of the countries on the globe, agree that the United States needs to win back a lot of popularity and friendship that seems to have dwindled away in several countries on this hemisphere. As an example, it is no secret that the prestige of the United States is at low ebb in practically all of the countries of South America. Unfriendly propaganda has been responsible for this condition to a great degree, but lack of understanding of the markets on the part of our North American manufacturers also has had its effect.

BLACKHANDER GOES FREE

It is announced that a clerk in one of the government departments has been found guilty of sending out blackmail letters to some of the most prominent people in Washington including Henry White, former ambassador to France, and Mrs. Thomas P. Walsh, widow of the "triple king."

has declared that if former Governor Bates refuses to enter the fight as a candidate against Lodge, he himself will become a candidate. His statement indicates that there is a growing sentiment in the republican party for a change from the Lodge brand of politics. Here is a paragraph from Mr. Walker's statement:

"For various sufficient reasons I do not think that the republicans should not again nominate Mr. Lodge for the United States senate. I do not believe that he can be elected if nominated. Perhaps you do not fully realize the strength and widespread opposition which exists throughout the commonwealth."

Thus it appears that there is an opportunity for a strong democratic candidate to be elected; but it will be useless to run any other or one whose defeat would be assured in advance. Thus far, with the exception of Hon. David I. Walsh, all the democrats who ran for senator did so simply as a matter of form and without any real hope of election. That attitude should be abandoned; but it will call for a strong and popular candidate who will command not only the solid democratic vote but a good slice of the republican vote.

FOR A BUILDING BOOM

Many of those who have intended to build during the coming summer are looking around inquiringly to find whether there will be any material reduction in the cost of labor and material. It is true, we understand, that there has been a considerable reduction in the price of finished lumber; but thus far, it appears there has been but slight reduction in the wages of the building crafts. This, it is alleged, will injure the building prospects for the coming season.

Now is the time for the building trades to get together and remove as far as possible any obstacles to active building operations during the coming season. While some of the crafts have reduced wages, others have held back and these jeopardize the whole situation. It is almost a certainty that with favorable conditions a great building boom could be started here early in the spring to relieve the housing shortage in the fall. It would be a grave mistake if one or two trades should make such a forward step impossible.

TREATY RESERVATIONS

Republicans having drafted treaties calling for the reduction of arms and for certain policies in China and on the Pacific, some of those who are asked to ratify the treaties in the senate, propose that if they support the treaties it will be with reservations somewhat similar to those made against the League of Nations. Lodge was the leader of the reservations on the League of Nations. Now he is the chief opponent; but if the treaties are ratified at all, the reservations will be made as a protection against the use of military force in the enforcement of the treaties.

The republicans are raising a howl against the reservations; but without the reservations they may be unable to secure the necessary votes for ratification.

DEMOCRATS BARRED

Four republicans—Secretary Hughes, Secretary Hoover, Senator Snoot of Utah, Rep. Burton of Ohio, with Secretary Mellon as chairman ex officio—constitute the commission chosen on the refunding of the war loans to the allies. Much surprise has been expressed that the president did not appoint at least one democrat on the commission which will decide on what conditions, if at all, the $11,000,000,000 owed the United States by the allied powers shall be paid.

Big attempts inflated with helium non-explosive gas might be developed without involving any great tragedy. Helium should have been used on the Titanic; but the airman took too much for granted in estimating their own knowledge and the craft's reliability.

What kind of a bonus does the republican party favor? Nobody knows. What kind of a bonus did Senator Harding promise when he was seeking election to the presidency? Nobody seems to know; and apparently he doesn't know himself.

That declaration by Lady Astor that domestic service is a skilled job confirms a general impression of long standing. Lady Astor must have had some dealings with the eccentricities of the artistic temperament in the vicinity of the butler's pantry.

We do not anticipate any serious trouble as a result of the recent agreement to put off the Irish elections for three months. Rather should it clear the air and ensure more amicable action in support of the treaty.

The latest tid in some Washington congressional circles appears to be to attack Mr. Hoover for the things he has done and for the things he has not done. It was over this.

After looking over the records very closely, we are firmly convinced that the new red catalogues are a better harbinger of spring than the wood-chuck.

An open conference between the parties concerned in each of the local mill strikes, would soon clear away all mutual misunderstandings and result in a definite settlement.

A Thought for Today
No who interrupts
The appointed tasks and duties of the day
Untunes full off the pleasure of the day.
Checking the finer spirits that refuse to flow, when purposes are lightly changed.

—William Wordsworth.

A Word a Day
Today's word is aboriginal. It's pronounced—ab-oh-ri-j-i-nal with accent on the third syllable. It means—first, native, indigenous, primitive, original. It comes from the Latin word "ab" from the beginning. Companion word—aborigines. It's used like this—"The red Indians were the aboriginal inhabitants of America."

Big Shirt Supply
"My boy," said the banker, "do you know the meaning of energy and industry?" "No, sir," answered Freddy. "I don't believe I do." "Well, I'll tell you. One of the richest men in the world came to this city with only a few cents in his pocket, and he has millions in his name." "Millions?" he asked. "Why, how many of them can he wear at a time?"

What You Never Hear
Collector: "We made a mistake in your gas bill last month; there will be no charge this month, and here is 75 cents." Ballplayer: "You are right, Mr. Umpire. I was out a mile." "I want to stay five years, mum, at $10 a month." Judge: "You are discharged; I believe your story that it was brought into the kitchen by mistake." Butcher: "Sirloin steak has gone down to 15 cents a pound."—Pargo Courier-News.

Didn't Win the Shilling
The kindly old squire was giving a treat to the village school children. After tea he stepped onto a beam and smiled. "Now, I am going to perform certain actions, and you must guess what proverb they represent. The boy or girl who gets three right will receive a shilling." That did it. Instantly every eye was fixed upon him. First of all, the squire reclined on his sofa. Then he ran and came forward and tried to lift him. Two others came to his aid, and between them they raised the old man, who was rather portly. The action was meant to represent the motto: "Falen is strength." When they had finished the squire stepped forward and asked any child to hold out his hand. He then grasped by hand shot up, and in a eager voice squeaked: "Let sleeping dogs lie."—London Mail.

What Is Love?
They were discussing love. "Love," said the bachelor, "is an emotion which never existed. It was first fostered in the world by a wood-headed novelist who wanted something to write about." "Ah!" sighed the married man. "Love is an illusion which exists only in the mind of a wife who is disappointed." "Love," cried the cynic, "is the sentimental outpouring of a moonstruck youngster in the last stages of infatuation." "Love," replied an old maid, "is the heavenly reward of all who withstand the temptations of life." "Too ho!" suggested the cynic. "I think love is a sure road through a breach-of-promise case to enough ready cash to enable you to enjoy single blessedness." "Neither," cried the cynic, "nor love is the most expensive form of gambling with all the odds against the man." "Oh," exclaimed the bachelor, "if you really love it is a series of electric shocks, low-whispered confidences and beautiful kisses." Which only goes to prove that love is a thing which exists only in the mind of a man satisfied with (for long) once it is found.

The Gloom Chaser
I met a man the other day
Who looked so full of woe.
That shadow seemed to follow him
Where'er he had to go.

He seemed to think the world was drifting
Straightway on the rocks.
And every way he turned he found
The pathway full of knocks.

I asked him if he ever tried
To smile when things went wrong;
I tried to tell him of the good
That's found in homely song.

I talked to him of life and love—
Of hope for those who fail;
Of kindly aid that men can give
When weaker spirits quail.

I mentioned, also, friendship's faith
In what a friend can do
To lighten gloom and cheer the soul
Of lonely brothers true!

And all the brightness of fond hope—
Of better days to come;
Of satisfaction found in toil
Of paths ways toward the light.

My humble efforts seemed in vain.
Yet something told me plain
Old Gloom had turned upon the road
To Happiness again.

—CATH. PICKENS.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A few years ago, a New York clubman bet $500, even money, that he could gather a crowd of 5000 in and around Times Square in 10 minutes. All he did was walk out into the middle of the street, stop with an expression of surprise, and begin staring at the sky. Nearby rubber necks also paused and looked upward, curious to learn what aroused interest. The curiosity contagion spread. Police reserves had to be called out to break the traffic jam. The clubman won his bet.

Great is the power of curiosity, mighty above nearly all things. Your income will climb to dizzy figures if you can figure out a new way to turn curiosity into profits.

Window decorators in large cities sometimes get very large salaries. The window display is as attractive as this one: The window pane is painted black. In the center, a dollar-sized peep-hole, powerful electric light pouring through it, a white arrow pointing at the hole.

Arrange such a mysterious stage setting and the crowd will fight each other for a chance to get to the hole and see what's inside.

er in Lowell. The old Middlesex Mechanics association conducted a library there and made the hall a centre of social and literary culture for a great many years. When the division came in the First Congregational church the building was renovated so as to accommodate the readers who got together under the leadership of Rev. George F. Kennigott. After a number of years as pastor he accepted a call to California. The church had other leaders after Mr. Kennigott but finally decided to renounce with the great church. Most of the members returned to the mother church without any unpleasant memories of what had happened in the past. The American Legion found their quarters in this building too expensive to be maintained for this reason it was ordered closed. For a few years the Knights of Columbus used four or five of the rooms for evening social purposes and bore part of the expense of heating the building and paying the rent. When the Associate building was purchased recently and a new building to be built in Lowell, it was found that the Knights went out and bought the old Middlesex Mechanics quarters although not entirely suitable for their purposes. They have had several other buildings and sites under consideration and a number of the members have been in favor of securing a new building to be planned entirely for their convenience. It is understood that radical changes in the building are contemplated. The foundation and supports, it is said, are strong enough to carry three additional stories.

I am informed that the striking textile workers were very much pleased with the Crescent rink management which offered the free use of the rink for yesterday's labor rally. This was a nice act on the part of the Crescent rink management, and I want to let them know how much outsiders appreciated the little courtesy.

I am informed that there may not be any reunion of the old Massachusetts Sixth regiment of volunteers (1861) this year, because of the few surviving members and the feeble condition of some of them. Many of the reunions used to be held in Lowell, when Colonel Jones was always the leading figure and a greatly beloved soldier-citizen, too. Several of the survivors of the "Old Sixth" live in and about Lowell and in nearby county towns, and I have in mind several who are today on beds of sickness, unable to get about their homes without assistance. I hope, however, that the activities of the old regimental command, will meet as usual, on or about April 19, 1922. I shall want to be there when they do.

Thursday at some of the local sales stables is a real holiday for many country visitors. Horsemen tell me that some of the old-timers have been coming to Lowell for nearly 30 years on each Thursday morning, simply to stand around all day and watch the horses and wagons go by the auctioneers' stand. I am told that most of the old-timers buy horses now and then, and some of them purchase just to make a profit, rarely holding their "bays" long and disposing of them a second time to friends back in the rural districts. Indeed, I have in mind one farmer whose prosperity at home is due to his frequent visits to the Lowell horse market. One of the Hanson stable men gave me this tip while he swung a long whip over a sturdy truck horse that was destined for a summer at the plough in a nearby hamlet.

I haven't heard much more about a food fair in Lowell, but perhaps it is a little early yet for the "annual." I am told that the Boston fair will not come along yet awhile, with the automobile show attraction there the biggest thing in the immediate offing. Lowell's food shows are always highly attractive. They draw the crowds, too, and the sample exhibits are always big cards and stores in general benefit always from shows of this kind which help local trade and advertise goods.

O'CONNELL DISTRICT BOARD

A meeting of the O'Connell district board of the A.A.R.I.I. was held in the board hall last evening with Pres. John Barrett in the chair. The state convention in Canton on March 19 called up for discussion and many motions relative to the affair were given attention by those present.

Berton Braleys
Daily Poem
A Priceless Possession

One can't be always young.
So I will be resigned.
To take my place among
My staid and pensive kind.
I'm getting slightly gray;
Ah, youth, I do not care
Not very much, but say—
I hope I keep my hair.

I'm just a trifle stiff,
Not much, but just a bit.
You'd never notice it
I didn't tell of it.
I'm also growing fat,
Just slightly, here and there;
I'm quite resigned to that
If I can keep my hair.

Age, do your worst to me,
Redden my nose and lip,
Until with cracking knees
I halt at every step;
Such minor woes as these
I'll try to grin and bear,
But please—oh, pretty please,
Let me retain my hair.

Share me the fearful tale,
The venom and the gall
Of swarming fleas and lice
A polished killing ball,
Or sporting a toupee;
'Twould drive me mad, I swear!
Take, take all else away
But let me keep my hair.

ROTARY CLUB WILL HEAR REV. DR. BARTLETT

Tomorrow threatens to be a lively day for Lowell Rotarians, who hope to crowd a four-hour program of good things into a 50 minute period and a few odd seconds. Equipped with new year self-starters and plenty of business acumen, the three live Rotarians, on the membership, rolls way up near the top as Albert D. Milliken, William N. Goodell and Arthur E. Hatch, have dug up a program that promises to be a real fund-raiser for the old year string, and head the list for the time being.

Coming tomorrow afternoon right after dinner is the Rev. Dr. W. A. Bartlett, formerly pastor of the Kirk Street Congregational church, who will deliver an interesting lecture full of vital facts about the Near East. Dr. Bartlett is present state director of the Near East Relief fund. Committees for future Rotary meetings, announced this morning, were as follows:

March 1—Charles D. A. Grass, John H. Don, John M. Donagan, March 14—Harry Pitts, Harry L. Parkhurst, John Robinson. March 21—Arthur C. Spaulding, Henry F. Whiting, George N. Shay. March 28—George F. Wells, Charles N. Woodward, Earle R. Kimball.

Tomorrow's meeting has been called as a "100 per cent meeting" in the club's calendar, and the attendance if all goes well, promises to be the largest ever recorded. The Rotarians have considerable business to attend to at tomorrow's meeting also, one matter being proposed in articles 1 and 2 of the club by-laws.

The appended articles would read as follows:

SECTION 1. At the regular meeting one month prior to the annual meeting the presiding officer shall ask for nominations by members of the club for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and four members of the board of directors. The nominations are to be presented by a nominating committee. The nominating committee shall be appointed by the presiding officer. The nominations duly made shall be placed on a ballot in alphabetical order under each officer and shall be voted for at the annual meeting. The candidates for president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer receiving a majority of the vote shall be declared elected to their respective offices. The four candidates for directors receiving such a majority of the votes shall be declared elected as directors.

SECTION 2. The officers and directors, so elected, together with the immediate past president, shall constitute the board of directors and shall meet within one week after the annual meeting and assume the duties of their respective offices. They shall be publicly installed into their respective offices at the first regular meeting of the club following their election.

ARTICLE II
Section 1. The governing body of this club shall be the board of directors, consisting of nine members of this club, namely, four directors elected in accordance with Article I, Section 1, of these by-laws, the president, vice-president, the secretary, treasurer and the immediate past president.

GIVE A BABY SYRUP PEPSIN

Constipation, biliousness and like annoying ills will quickly disappear

A MOTHER is always anxious to give the safest and best medicine to a constipated baby. But is puzzled which to select. Lather decide by the ingredients on the package.

Every bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the formula printed plainly on the outside of the carton under the portrait of Dr. Caldwell, who wrote the prescription in 1892. You will find that it is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It will not gripe the baby, and it is free from narcotics. A bottle sufficient to last a family several months can be had at any drug store, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

While no one, young or old, need take a drastic purgative like salts or calomel, be especially careful what you give a child. Some contain minerals, coal tar and other drugs that might prove dangerous by over stimulating the intestines or depressing the heart. The ingredients of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are recommended by the U. S. Pharmacopoeia.

FIRST WOMAN DRY AGENT

Carrying on Crusade Started a Generation Back in Her Family

BUCKRUS, Ohio, Feb. 27.—Miss Georgia E. Hopley of Buckyrus, the first woman general prohibition agent to be attached to the mobile enforcement forces at national prohibition headquarters, Washington, in her new work will be carrying on a crusade started a generation back in her family.

In 1872-73, when he who talked of prohibition was accounted out of his head, a valiant band of women braving boots and jeers, started to make this city unsafe for liquor. Mrs. Georgiana Hopley, who is dead now, was a member of that band. She was the "first woman general prohibition agent's" mother.

Miss Hopley comes of a long line of newspaper folk. One brother was the editor of the first and only prohibition paper in Crawford county. Seven of her brothers and sisters still are in newspaper work, here or elsewhere.

The late John Hopley, her father, as editor of the Buckyrus Journal, was awarded the title of "Nestor of Ohio Journalism."

Miss Hopley has another "first" to her credit. She is said to have been the first woman in Ohio to enter active newspaper work.

Her initial newspaper job was as a reporter on the Columbus, O. Times. In 1900 Governor George O. Nash appointed her to represent women of the state at the Paris exposition, and she remained in France and England from May until December. She made trips to England and the continent in 1908, 1910 and 1911.

In 1918, Miss Hopley had charge of the women's publicity in the Frank D. Willis campaign in Ohio for the republican nomination for governor, and in 1919, was attached in the same capacity to the successful campaign of James J. Thomas for mayor of Columbus.

In 1920, she had charge of the publicity work for women in the republican presidential campaign in Ohio. In her new work, she will undertake the spread of publicity in the national prohibition enforcement campaign, and will, it is expected, travel extensively over the country. She hopes to have delegated to her, the education of children of the country in the proper observance of prohibition laws.

EGYPTIANS BOYCOTT BRITISH GOODS

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Feb. 27.—In declaring a boycott against all goods of English manufacture, the Egyptians have adopted the tactics of the nationalists of India. They have heard that the Indians have been successful in their attempt to boycott British goods and are endeavoring to use the same means to bring the British government to terms.

As yet the extent of the boycott is not clear. However, many Egyptian merchants are now refusing to buy English goods and salesmen calling on Egyptian customers are promptly told that he wishes no quotations on such merchandise.

But the great majority of importers and exporters are foreigners who desire to continue to buy and sell in the best markets.

If the Egyptians are able to hold together on the boycott program and force the importers to no longer deal in English cotton piece goods, iron and steel products, the results may be serious for English factories in Lancashire and Birmingham.

British banks are included in the boycott. It is stated that considerable sums of money have been withdrawn from English banks in Egypt and placed in other foreign banks.

School boys have boycotted the schools and the native bar association voted to suspend all work.

It has been proposed also to restrict the cultivation of Egyptian cotton, which would be of interest to the cotton growers of the United States. It has been suggested that the Egyptians should refuse to export onions to England which now takes 80 per cent of the Egyptian onion crop.

Certain members of the Effendi class, Egyptians of leisure, have announced that they would cease to drink English whiskey and refuse to wear short-cropped mustaches as the English do. Various other boycott plans have been proposed.

ACCEPTS CALL TO PLYMOUTH CHURCH

Rev. Alfred Rodman Hussey has accepted a call to the pastorate of the old First church, Plymouth, and will be installed at an early date. Mr. Hussey was for 14 years pastor of the First Unitarian church, Baltimore, Md., and for four years served the Unitarian church in this city, being instrumental in bringing about the federation of his church with the High Street Congregational society in all souls church. He has recently been literary editor of the Christian Register, and officiating at the Plymouth church since last fall.

RUSSIANS FIRE AT AMERICAN

J. B. Murray, World War Hero of Woburn, Wounded in Moscow

Identity of Shooters Not Yet Discovered by Authorities

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—J. B. Murray of Woburn, Mass., connected with the American Relief Administration, suffered a slight flesh wound when fired upon in the street early Sunday morning. Murray was accompanied by a Mr. Callahan of Fall River, Mass.

Whether the shot was fired by a highwayman or by street patrols who misinterpreted the actions of the Americans, has not been determined.

Murray and Callahan are new arrivals in Moscow and have heard many exaggerations of the perils to be encountered in the streets. They were enroute toward a concert when they saw a sleigh ahead of them halted, and the occupants with their hands in the air.

Thinking it was a holdup and they would be the next victims, the Americans jumped from their sleigh and ran. Several shots were fired at them, one hitting Murray, who, however, was able to continue running and reached a nearby house, where a crowd quickly gathered.

Neither one understands Russian, but they succeeded in making the patrol, who quickly arrived, understand that they were Americans and were assisted home.

American Relief Administration employees familiar with Moscow are inclined to the theory that street patrols had halted the sleigh ahead of the Americans and that, when they witnessed the sudden flight of the occupants of the sleigh, they were fired, intending to halt them for investigation.

World War Hero

WOBURN, Feb. 27.—J. B. Murray, reported wounded in Moscow, is a veteran of the world war. He is 28 years old. He went overseas with Base Hospital No. 6, American Expeditionary Forces and remained in France until the end of the war when he went to Russia. Before the war he was a stenographer.

Upset Stomach, Gas, Indigestion

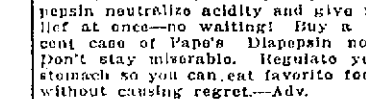

"Pape's Diapiesin" gives Relief in Five Minutes

Stomach acidity causes indigestion. Food souring, gas, distress. What upset your stomach? Well, don't bother! The moment you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapiesin all the lumps of indigestion, pain, the sourness, heartburn and belching of gases, due to acidity, vanish—truly wonderful! $228,000,000 FOR SOVIET MILITARY FORCES

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—Soviet Russia's military appropriation for the first nine months of 1922 totals $228,000,000, or about $228,000,000. Its naval appropriations aggregated $56,000,000 bringing the total completed expenditures for army and navy to about $281,000,000 according to the budget approved by the recent congress.

This expenditure is based on the present size of the army and navy. The army, according to latest reports, numbers somewhat over 1,500,000 men and the combined strength of the soldiers, the naval personnel and special troops is about 1,700,000.

Food and forage for the army is provided for in an appropriation aggregating about $75,000,000 which is greater than the amount of money America has already given for the relief of famine in the Soviet districts and more than the amounts given by all foreign countries to relieve distress in Soviet Russia.

Western soldiers, particularly American soldiers, will be amazed at the low rate of pay for military men. An ordinary soldier's pay is 20,000 rubles a month, which is only about ten cents, or less than the price of a Russian pound of white bread. Captains get the equivalent of about $150. Division commanders receive about $3 a month.

Budget figures for the Vochok, or "Cheka," show that this all-powerful spy system which combines legislative, executive and judicial functions all in one and has been the chief object of attack from abroad, as well as within Russia, is to cost $10,200,000.

The supreme economic council, which is endeavoring to reconstruct Russia's industry, gets $77,000,000; agriculture gets $26,000,000; education $61,000,000, and the department of health $35,000,000.

The contemplated expenditures total $271,000,000 gold rubles while the estimated income totals 1,640,000,000 gold rubles, leaving a deficit equivalent to about $115,000,000.

The chief sources from which it is estimated the state's income will be derived are nationalized industries which are expected to yield $419,000,000 and $212,000,000 income from grain and other products taken as taxes in kind. The income from transportation is placed at $10,000,000.

ST. COLUMBA'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The first communion breakfast of St. Columba's Holy Name society was held in the Pawtucket school yesterday morning and members listened to an excellent and brilliant address on the responsibilities of the Catholic men of today by James C. Reilly, assistant district attorney for Northern Middlesex county.

The members of the society, 200 strong, attended communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Columba's church. The mass was celebrated by Rev. John G. Hogan, the organization's spiritual director, who complimented the members on their attendance at communion. Adjournment was taken, after the mass, to the hall of the Pawtucket school, where breakfast was served.

President Warren P. Riordan presented Mr. Reilly as the principal speaker, and a splendid welcome was accorded the guest. The great significance of receiving communion, and the privilege attached thereto, was stressed by Mr. Reilly, who reminded his auditors that this privilege was accorded men of today through the hardships, sufferings and persecutions of their ancestors, endured that the practice of their faith might be retained. The events which led up to the public manifestation of today were carefully reviewed.

The unceasing resistance of the church against social and religious unrest, together with the fact that what was once pagan Rome is the capital of the Catholic world, was spoken of. Mr. Reilly said that the recent election of a new pope in a successful manifestation of its leadership in Catholicity.

The early days of the Catholics in Lowell were discussed, in the course of tracing the spread of the Catholic religion from Ireland to America. He concluded by admonishing the members to lead truly Catholic lives, thus meriting the great heritage of faith received and preparing themselves to ward off insidious intellectual attacks against their religion.

"For God and For Country," the motto of the Catholic Welfare council, was spoken of by Rev. Fr. Hogan, who urged the members to keep it constantly in mind.

Included in the musical program carried out during the breakfast were songs by William Mass and Andrew Doyle and piano selections by Charles Donahue and Francis L. Ralls.

At a brief business meeting held before adjournment, rising voices of thanks were given Mr. Reilly for his interesting talk, to the school committee for the use of the hall and to Martin Lydon for courtesies extended in connection with the entering.

Ten members of the Junior Holy Name and ten from the senior society were appointed on motion of the president to arrange for a minstrel show, the proceeds to go to the society's treasury.

In concluding the meeting, the members sang "The Star Spangled Banner," with Mr. Ralls as accompanist.

HON. JOHN J. HOGAN DEAD

Well Known Citizen Died
Sunday at His Home in
Clark Road

Hon. John J. Hogan died yesterday morning at his home in Clark road. He was in his 65th year. Death came after an illness of several months, although for an even longer period of time he had been unable to perform active in his many business duties in local banking and legal circles.

Standing as one of Lowell's most prominent citizens, for years closely identified with the civic advancement of the city of his birth, as a lawyer, as a banker, in politics and in club and fraternal life, Mr. Hogan was one of the community's best known and most highly respected men.

In more recent years his activities were confined almost wholly to his legal work as senior member of the law firm of John J. and William A. Hogan and as president of the Washington Savings Institution, but in earlier life he was prominent in the field of politics both in city and state. Also, he was director of the Lowell Trust Co., and president of the Lowell Insulated Wire Co.

Mr. Hogan was born in Lowell, July 10, 1857. He received his education in the public schools of the city and as a young man began the study of law in the office of Jeremiah Crowley. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1882. One year after he made his first appearance in local politics, serving in the common council for two years and in the latter year as president of the body. In 1895 and 1896 he served in the state legislature and from 1891 to 1895 held the office of city solicitor of Lowell.

The rapid development of his law business began at that time and from then on he gave himself up almost wholly to legal matters. His work was marked with signal success and he appeared as counsel in many important cases.

In 1914 Mr. Hogan was elected to the governor's council from the sixth district, being the only democrat ever to represent it. In 1916 he was elected governor of New York. Mr. Hogan was appointed to the Massachusetts civil service commission. At an earlier date he was a member of the first state board of education. At the time of his death, Mr. Hogan was vice president of the Lowell High School Alumni association, and a member of the Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts and American Bar associations. His fraternal and club connections included membership in the Knights of Columbus, Industry council, Grand Association and a member of the committee on laws of the supreme council of that national body; the Elks, York club and Washington club, of which he was the first president. He also was connected with the Ex-Connecticut club of Massachusetts, the Grand Association club, the Lowell Irish Historical society and a charter member of the Lowell Fish and Game association. He was a member of the immediate conception church.

He is survived by four daughters, Marietta, Helen L., E. Irene and Margaret, and two sons, William A. and Daniel E. Hogan.

BARBERS ARE STILL OUT

Tonsorial Artists in Fight to Finish—Organizer Coming
to Lowell

Declaring that the union barbers now on strike in Lowell and vicinity won't give up their peaceful war for better wages, but will "fight to a finish," and assured today by the International Journeymen Barbers' headquarters at Indianapolis, of "every support, both financial and moral," the journeymen's local in this city made arrangements today to greet Anthony Melino, one of the best known organizers on the payroll of journeymen barbers' headquarters in Indiana, who telegraphed Secretary Martin J. Hoar, of the local union this morning that he would be here either today or tomorrow.

"We haven't lost our courage, but propose to carry forward our campaign for better living wages from now on in vigorous style," said Secretary Hoar this morning.

"No other shops have been 'signed up' as yet, but several are talking business. We believe that another week or two will show real results, and then the shops who returned their cards, will ask for them again and will be willing to pay a decent living wage. We can't work for the new weekly rate and pay our bills. We simply want to be treated fairly, that is all. We need no money, but we need an acknowledgment of our fair claims in decent wages right off, the very first day of the strike, as you know."

Telegrams from international headquarters received by Secretary Hoar this morning, indicated the following: "The international headquarters proposes to loyally support Lowell union barbers in their demands. Strike benefits of $10 weekly for each member of the union on strike, will go forward from headquarters at the rate of $10 weekly. The news was received by Secretary Hoar and the striking barbers, with enthusiasm, as no strike benefits from international headquarters had been received up to date. The benefit is one of the largest paid in any industry, and until an agreement is reached between striking barbers and shop proprietors.

A special meeting of the local union has been called for this evening at headquarters, to hear formal reports from the further action, international organizer Melino, may be on hand for this meeting.

The service was under the direction of Undertaker William A. Mack.

ETHEL—The funeral services of Mrs. Mary Ethel were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home, 100 North Main street, and were largely attended. Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church, officiating. There were James Brown, Joseph White, Herbert Lancaster, Richard Mills, James and Thomas Murray. Burial took place at the Westwood cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker M. H. McDonough Sons.

SINGMASTER—The funeral services of Mrs. Sarah Singmaster were held Saturday afternoon at the Lawrence Street Primitive Methodist church, and were largely attended by friends and acquaintances. Including members of the different church societies and the British War Veterans association. Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the church, officiating. The church choir, assisted by Rev. Alfred Humphries, of Methuen and Rev. Clement Crawley, of Lawrence, officiated. The church choir, assisted by Rev. Alfred Humphries, of Methuen and Rev. Clement Crawley, of Lawrence, officiated. Boott Mills Died Yesterday

Mrs. Aristin B. Flather, step-mother of Frederick A. Flather of this city, treasurer of the Boott mills, died yesterday at her home in Nashua, N. H. after a six-weeks illness. Deceased on her maternal side, was a direct descendant of Maj. Simon Willard, who came to America in 1631 and took a prominent part in the early colonial wars, both civil and military.

Mrs. Flather went to Nashua, N. H. about 60 years ago and had since made her home in that city. She was the widow of Joseph Flather, long a leading manufacturer of Nashua, and was connected with the Chestnut Street M. E. church of that city. The King's Daughters Benevolent association and Young Men's Association, besides her stepson in this city she leaves a son, ex-Police Commissioner Herbert L. Flather of Nashua; two daughters, Miss Emma A. Flather of Nashua and Miss Wallace N. MacDuff of Seattle, Wash., and a stepdaughter, Miss Alice V. Flather of this city.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Flather in Nashua, N. H. yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of the First Baptist church of Nashua. The church choir, assisted by Rev. J. A. Sullivan, of Nashua, officiated. The church choir, assisted by Rev. J. A. EXPRESS EMPLOYEES HIT WOMEN TO BE ADMITTED

Out Free Transportation
for Express Employees

Free transportation for railway express employees goes under the railroad labor board's latest expense-cutting guillotine with a vengeance in a new set of rules just promulgated and received at the Middlesex street headquarters of the express carriers. No longer will employees who handle the express matter for the railroads receive transportation passes here, there and everywhere, as made possible by the alliance of the railroads and the express companies during the federal administration during the winning-of-the-war era.

Railroad express employees have been placed on the same basis of working hours as railroad clerks who assist in the work of the Railroad Labor board. According to what will be paid at the Middlesex street station today, the board's latest decision becomes effective March 1.

The latest ruling eliminates time and one-half pay for the ninth hour and creates a "split trick" of eight hours with a spread of twelve at straight time rates.

The new rules supersede the national agreement made under federal control with the American Railway Express company and cover about 75,000 employees, several thousand shop men having been included in rules negotiated by the company and the federated shop crafts last year.

Straight time will be paid for the first nine hours' work each day, although the rules remain in principal the same as constituting a day's work. Time and one-half will be paid for all work over nine hours instead of after eight hours.

The "split trick" arrangement permits men to work when needed most, even at widely separated hours, without penalizing the express company for overtime. "Split tricks" were authorized under the old agreement when five or more men were employed, but the new rules are effective regardless of the number employed. Sunday and holiday work will be paid as in the past.

For employees paid by the month, 240 hours constitute a month, but overtime will not be paid until after 270 hours.

The board set a rate of 60 cents an hour for men employed in train cars, but not regularly assigned. Helpers will receive 50 cents, both with a minimum guaranty of eight hours.

Among several eliminated rules is that providing free transportation for employees. This was made possible by the alliance of the railroad and the express companies during the federal administration, but is now cancelled.
